Supreme Court Hearing Appeal For Dr. Sam

Attorneys Seeking To Free Osteopath In Wife-Murder

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's Supreme Court called today for oral arguments in the appeal of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard from his conviction for wife-murder.

The 32-year-old osteopath is serving a life sentence for the second degree murder of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31, on July 4, 1954, in their home beside Lake Erie in Bay Village, Cleveland suburb.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis of Ohio Penitentiary said Sheppard's routine would be unbroken during the hearing on his appeal in the courtroom only a few blocks from the mid-town prison here.

Sheppard has been working as an operating room nurse in the prison hospital since last Jan. 23. Following admission to the pen last July 20, Sheppard worked for a time as an automobile mechanic. He had been a sports car fancier.

Dr. Sam maintained during his trial resulting in conviction on Dec. 21, 1954, that an unidentified intruder fatally bludgeoned his wife in an upstairs bedroom while he napped on a living room couch.

* * *

SHEPPARD SAID he was roused by screams. The intruder knocked him unconscious momentarily during a scuffle in the dark and again after pursuit to the nearby beach, he said. The Sheppards' young son, "Chip" slept through it all.

Briefs filed with the high court by defense counsel listed 29 "assignments of error" allegedly committed in lower court proceedings.

Prosecution attorneys replied that Sheppard was properly convicted and that the conviction should be affirmed.

Paul M. Herbert of Columbus, former Ohio lieutenant governor, claimed the prosecution "piled inference upon inference" to convict Sheppard on circumstantial evidence.

Herbert said at least two members of the Sheppard jury telephoned outsiders during the trial in violation of state law.

He said statute requires members of a jury to be kept together under an officer during their deliberations. The statute permits outside communications by jurors only with court permission.

Herbert added that two jurors admitted that during their deliberations they heard a broadcast that said in substance:

"Today a woman was arrested for complicity in a robbery. She had been the mistress of Sheppard. She bore him a son."

Herbert said the broadcast was false and untrue.

"At least two jurors heard the broadcast," Herbert said.

"That was a violation of the instructions of the trial court."

The defense attorney recalled that in similar instances courts have not hesitated to grant a new trial.

* * *

TWO DAYS AFTER that broadcast, Herbert continued, another broadcaster "compared Sheppard with Alger Hiss, a traitor."

Apparently the marvels of steel will never cease.

The latest announcement of the steel industry is a new kind of auto and truck tire with the strength of steel and an estimated life span of 500,000 miles, which has appeared on the market.

The new type tires have rolled up as many as 300,000 miles on the original tread in extensive road testing by high speed buses and trucks, according to The American Iron and Steel Institute.

The strength of steel in the new tires is that from one to eight miles of high tensile steel wire, woven from tiny filaments three times the thickness of human hair.

Three of these filaments form the cord. Five strands of seven filaments each are twisted around it to make one cord.

The steel cords are formed into plies which make the new tire safe and more durable than ever before believed possible, it is claimed.

An inch square of nylon supports 146,000 pounds while an inch square of steel wire filaments supports 400,000 pounds.

City Schools Need More Classrooms

The Washington C. H. School Board has set its sights on a revised program for the five city elementary schools that has for its goal 47 classrooms with an average of 32 pupils each.

This action was taken by the board at its regular meeting Monday night with two objectives: (1) better education and (2) maximum advantage of the new plan of distribution of state School Foundation.

(Under the new and complex distribution system, the state Foundation payments now are to be made on the basis of classroom units of 30 pupils per teacher.)

To achieve this goal of 42 classrooms and 42 teachers, the board will have to add five classrooms and five teachers, the calculations showed.

It was brought out that with this year's enrollment of 1,244 pupils in the first six grades, there is an average of 33.6 pupils in each of the 37 classrooms. However, the school census shows that the elementary school enrollment next year will be 1,326 and that 42 classrooms would be needed to spread them out for an average of 32 per teacher.

The board considered several alternative plans, but eventually came back to the 32 pupils per teacher average as the one on which it should set its sights with determination.

* * *

JUST WHERE five more class rooms can be found remained as one of the big questions to be answered. In this connection it was pointed out that five of the 37 classrooms now being used are considered "emergency classrooms"—two of them in Grace Church at a rental of $258 a month, one in an all-purpose room at the Rose Avenue School and two in the auditorium at the Sunnyside School.

A condensed estimate of comparative operating expenses for this year and next had been prepared for the board in advance on the basis of 38 classrooms with an average of 36 pupils. It showed operating funds for this year amounted to $512,781 and for next year (under the new Foundation distribution system) the total was estimated at $513,303.

Although the figure for next year did not include the tuition from 230 students from the rural areas, the total was $521 more than the funds estimated this year.

However, it was pointed out that by going to the 42 rooms and 42 teachers the receipts from the state Foundation would be still greater—but the figures for this plan had not been worked out in detail.

No decision was reached, but the board considered the possibilities of making elementary classrooms in the rooms now occupied by the industrial arts department of the high school and, perhaps, part of the home economics department. This, however, is based on the discontinuance of the vocation agriculture department when the 230 rural students are no longer enrolled in the high school here.

There are now 8 classrooms at Central (two in church), six at Cherry Hill, eight at Eastside, seven at Rose Avenue and eight at Sunnyside. That makes the total of 37 and the trick is to find five more to carry out the plan for the 32-pupil rooms.

* * *

THE BOARD received a copy of a resolution adopted by the County School Board regarding the closing of the high school to rural students and filed it without comment. The resolution had previously been published in the Record-Herald.

The board accepted a small area transferred to the city district from the Miami Trace district by the County School Board. The transfer was made at the request of Ed Vollette and Junior Campbell. Dr. J. H. Persinger owns the property occupied by the Campbell family.

The transfer will not become final until after the 30-day remonstrance period, but since the only persons involved asked for the transfer no remonstrance is anticipated.

The board passed a resolution requesting the state Board of Education to transfer from the Miami Trace district to the city district two areas which recently had been annexed to the city. One is known as the Brownell subdivision at the eastern edge of the city and the other is known as the Willis subdivision on the east side of an extension of Dayton Avenue.

Plans were completed for the board to go to Zanesville, Lancaster and Newark Wednesday to look over some new schools there.

A list of teachers was recommended for continuing and limited contracts. The list, which also will show the status of all teachers in the city system, will be published in the Record-Herald in the near future, probably tomorrow.

THE BOARD was furnished a list of "surplus property" which had been purchased for the school for $335. The report to the board estimated the property was worth around $3,000. The purchase included such things as lubricating oil, electric drills, shovels, scales, a variety of hand tools, asbestos packing, band saw set, batteries, fire cabinets and blow torches.

The board also was furnished with the customary detailed financial report for the month and the year to date.

Five representatives of the Rural Parents Association were at the meeting and remained for much of the discussion of the enrollment problems. When they came in they explained they were sympathetic and appreciated the board's problems, but wanted to sit in on the discussion for their own further enlightenment.

In the group were M. Grove Davis, Sam Marting, Alfred Hagler, Ed Cunningham and Ray French. When they left they were given the copies of the facts and figures that had been prepared for the board members.

Town-Country Banquet Friday

The first of a new series of annual banquets designed to bring together businessmen of the city and businessmen of the farm will be held at 6:30 P. M. Friday at the Country Club.

Sponsored jointly by the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce and the Fayette County Hereford Association, the banquet will be held in connection with a big Hereford sale Saturday at the Fairgrounds pavillion.

The sponsors expect that many out-of-town guests, coming to "the Herefordshire of Ohio" for the sale, will also attend the banquet Friday evening.

In many respects, the new series of dinners will resemble the old Corn Show banquets, discontinued — along with the original Corn Show—after the 1955 edition.

Like the Corn Show banquets, the new series will stress the common interests of this urban-rural community. Like them, it will be designed so that the city's businessmen will be hosts one year and the businessmen of the farm, the next.

The city men are to be hosts to the farmers this year.

* * *

BIGGEST differences between the Corn Show banquet and the new one are: (1) the sponsorship, which includes the Chamber of Commerce but substitutes the Hereford Association for the county Seed Improvement Association, and (2) the women are invited. The old Corn Show banquet was a men-only affair.

"We wanted to invite ladies, too, this year because we feel the demonstration of meat cutting on the program should interest them as much as their husbands," explained William Stoughton, new manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The demonstration, to be staged by Robert B. Havener, Extension Service meat specialist at Ohio State University, will illustrate the differences between top quality beef and meat which is merely good.

Havener will cut two carcasses, one of prime grade and one of good grade, and illustrate the differences in the various cuts of meat obtained from the two carcasses.

* * *

THE PROGRAM will also include music played during dinner by a band made up of Wshington C. H. High School band members.

Douglas Rider leads the band and other members are Earl Palmer, Byron Palmer, Dale Fent, Don Crissinger, Bob Crouse and Johnny Leland.

The program will be opened with a welcome by Paul Van Voorhis, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee which worked with the Hereford Association in planning the affair.

Van Voorhis will introduce Ray Brandenburg, who will act as toastmaster.

Serving on the Chamber's civic committee, said that "the soil bank alone is out, it won't add one cent to the farmers' income."

Poage professed to see a chance that the House would vote to override Eisenhower's veto "if the Republicans who voted with us last week will vote with us again."

The House passed the bill 237-181 last week. If the same number of members voted, it would require 279 votes to override the veto. And there were signs that at least some of the 48 Republicans who voted for the bill would not vote to override the President.

Several said they accepted Eisenhower's decision although they would have been happier if he had approved the bill.

Baldridge's Attorneys Overruled by Court in Attack on Damage Suit

Judge John P. Case has overruled a motion by counsel for George S. Baldridge to strike certain parts of Mrs. Irvin Patrick's petition in her $150,000 damage suit against the man who was convicted of the first degree manslaughter killing of her husband last Nov. 15.

Patrick, a game protector, was fatally shot on the Baldridge farm on the Prairie Pike less than two hours after the pheasant hunting season opened. Baldridge was sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary — and taken there— after his conviction in Common Pleas Court here of first degree manslaughter, but was soon released on $15,000 bond pending the outcome of his case before the Court of Appeals.

One portion of Mrs. Patrick's petition which Baldridge's attorneys, Emory F. Smith of Portsmouth, E. S. Young of West Union and W. S. Paxson of Washington C. H., sought to have stricken from the petition reads:

"Plaintiff's decedent, Irvin J. Patrick, aged 43 years, at the time of his death was employed as an officer in the Department of Conservation, Division of Wildlife of the State of Ohio and was serving as Game Protector of Fayette County Ohio."

Other parts of the petition challenged read:

"That while her decedent was taking his prisoner from the farm, the defendant pointed a loaded shotgun at plaintiff's decedent and ordered him not to take said prisoner; that while said plaintiff's decedent was being so assaulted and being obstructed in the execution of his office by this defendant—"

The third section of the petition attacked reads:

"Plaintiff says that on the morning of November 15, 1955, her decedent while in the discharge of his duties as game protector was on the farm of the defendant, George S. Baldridge, located about seven miles northeast of Washington C. H., in Fayette County, Ohio, and while there placed one, Donald Butler under arrest for possession of a hen pheasant."

As result of Judge Case's refusal to strike any of the sections from the petition to which the defense objected, the petition filed by Mrs. Patrick stands as it was originally drawn.

Ray W. Davis of Circleville represents Mrs. Patrick in the action. He was also assistant prosecutor when Baldridge was tried on the second degree murder charge filed against him as result of the slaying of the game protector.

Parents OK School Tests In Hillsboro

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Most of the 24 Negro youngsters kept out of school here in a lengthy segregation dispute are slated to start classes again today.

Parents of 11 of the students Monday protested that the children were being assigned to lower grades than they were fitted for.

But the parents finally agreed to enroll the youngsters in the Webster-Washington school grades assigned by school officials after scholarship tests given last Friday.

The children were the center of a court fight lasting nearly two years over alleged segregation in Hillsboro elementary schools.

The dispute finally reached the U. S. Supreme Court which upheld an appellate court order calling for immediate integration of the children.

Of the seven children enrolled Monday, six went into the first grade and one went into the third grade. One youngster failed to be accepted into the first grade which is slated to end classes in about a month.

Five of the youngsters failed to take the tests on Friday. No explanation was given.

Woman Convicted Of Slaying Mate

CINCINNATI (AP) — Judge Ferd Bader ordered Mrs. Anna Riggs, 54, jailed yesterday pending sentence on conviction for first degree manslaughter in the death of her husband, Eugene.

A jury spent just over four hours reaching a decision. Riggs was fatally wounded by a shotgun blast last Feb. 10 as he climbed the steps to his home.

Effort Readied To Override Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key Democrats reacted coldly today to President Eisenhower's new request for a soil bank program while they awaited the outcome of an uphill House attempt to override his veto of the farm bill.

That effort, due tomorrow, seemed doomed to fall short of mustering the two-thirds margin required.

Meanwhile, evidence of some Republican dissatisfaction with President Eisenhower's farm bill veto emerged today from a GOP campaign conference despite Party Chairman Leonard W. Hall's contention it "will help the Republican party."

Hall said the farm bill veto "won't make my job any tougher," but he indicated the Republicans hope to make up in the big cities votes they lose in farm areas.

Political debate over the veto and over responsibility for the decline in farm income increased.

Eisenhower will speak at a final conference sesion tonight in formally opening his re-election campaign.

Eisenhower, in a nationwide television and radio broadcast last night explaining his veto, insisted that politics had not entered into his decision. He said:

"I will always resist any attempt to make the farmer and his problems a political football."

* * *

HE SAID HE had been told by persons he did not name that it was risky to veto such a bill in an election year.

"I am no political expert," he continued. "I have only one rule: through study, analysis and consultation—and by measuring each proposal against basic principles—I try to find out what is right, as I see it."

Declaring that he had vetoed the big farm bill with keen disappointment, he said:

"I had no choice. I could not sign this bill into law because it was a bad bill. In the months ahead, it would hurt more farmers than it would help. In the long run it would hurt all farmers. It was a bad bill for the country."

Eisenhower urged again that Congress act speedily to approve his soil bank program. It is designed to pay farmers subsidies totaling as much as $1.2 billion yearly for taking land out of production of crops in surplus.

This time, Eisenhower added a new feature he said would give farmers an extra $500 million this year.

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Jerry Leighton, 2, said he was still hungry after emergency hospital attendants relieved him of a meal of rusty nails, washed down with gasoline.

Here Is 1956 Farm Program

Present Setup Outlined After Veto By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the revisions President Eisenhower announced yesterday in a message to Congress vetoing a new farm bill, here are major points of the 1956 farm program as it now shapes up include:

Wheat — The crop is being grown under rigid marketing quotas which limit sales to production on 55 million acres, divided up among growers. To be supported at $2 a bushel or 84 per cent of parity compared with $2.08 or 82½ per cent of parity last year.

Corn—A planting allotment of 43,280,000 acres has been set for a designated commercial producing area comprising 840 major production counties in 23 states. This compares with 49,842,000 acres allotted a similar designated area last year. It had been announced that only farmers who planted within their allotments would be eligible for corn price supports. In his message, Eisenhower said the department will announce price support aid for non-cooperators on a level yet to be determined. The support for cooperators will be $1.50 a bushel or 86 per cent of parity compared with $1.58 or 87 per cent of parity last year.

* * *

PREVIOUSLY, non- cooperators on the corn allotment program have gotten no price support assistance. The support rate outside the commercial area is $1.13.

Other grains—No acreage allotments or marketing quotas are in effect for these crops. Farmers are free to grow as much of them as they want. Supports were set at 70 per cent of parity both for last year's crops and this year's. The 1956 rates are 93 cents a bushel compared with 94 cents last year for barley, 59 cents compared with 61 cents for oats, $1.16 compared with $1.18 for rye and $1.80 a hundred pounds compared with $1.78 for grain sorghum.

He was the adopted son of Mrs. Louise Waller of Port Arthur.

Air Force Unveils Ship In California

Tactical Air Command To Get First Squads Of Lockheed F104A

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — The Lockheed F104A Starfighter, a missile with a man in it, has flown more than 1,000 miles an hour.

Several hundred persons, including the largest gathering of news writers of its kind, witnessed the achievement yesterday. It was the fastest an aircraft ever has flown before a sizable audience.

It was the first public showing of this dazzling new craft which Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, has called "the fastest and highest flying fighter anywhere in the sky."

The exact speed of the plane is a secret. Actually two models were flown—the original XF104, powered by a Curtiss-Wright J65 jet engine, and the production model F104A, which has a lighter and more powerful engine, the General Electric J79.

Although the speeds were not disclosed, the pilot of an F94C jet fighter reported he was flying 500 miles an hour, and the F104A pilot, Herman R. Fish Salmon, was heard to reply over his radio, "I am doing better than twice that fast."

A U. S. research plane, the Bell X1A, has flown 1650 mph, twice the speed of sound, but the speed is not an official record as it was not made over a regulation course.

The official world speed record of 1,132 mph was set recently in England by Britain's Fairey Delta experimental plane. The old record was 822 mph, held by a North American F100 jet fighter.

* * *

ROBERT GROSS, Lockheed Aircraft Corp. president, told the gathering that the F104 was "the champion in the fighter field--the finest fighter in the world."

Gen. Otto P. Weyland, commander of the Tactical Air Command, announced that his command would be the first to receive the new air superiority fighter, and the first planes soon will go into operational squadrons.

"This is much more than just another fighter," Weyland said.

"It is a significant and tremendous step forward in our progress on supersonic flight.

"To the Tactical Air Command this addition will mean a capability to strike harder and faster than any other tactical air arm in history.

"It will be a strong deterrent to any potential enemy. No other country in the world can match it at this time."

The most striking thing about the new fighter was its resemblance to a missile, largely because its wings are so short and stubby they hardly seem to qualify as airplane wings.

The F104A is 54 feet, 9 inches long, yet its wings extend out only 7½ feet from the fuselage.

The engine reportedly has a thrust of about 15,000 pounds. The plane is about half as heavy as other fighters so the thrust is the equivalent of that of a more powerful engine.

A. W. (Tony) LeVier, Lockheed's director of flying operations, said the F014 has the highest rate of climb of any fighter in the world.

The plane has such great power that it can climb just as fast as it can fly straight and level.

The Starfighter's straight wings are so thin that the leading edge is covered with felt while it is on the ground to protect crewmen from injury. Other features:

1. The first downward ejection seat to be used in a fighter craft.

2. The application of "boundary layer control," by "bleeding" air over the wing surface on takeoffs and landings to reduce turbulence and give added lift.

Town-Country Banquet Friday

The first of a new series of annual banquets designed to bring together businessmen of the city and businessmen of the farm will be held at 6:30 P. M. Friday at the Country Club.

Sponsored jointly by the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce and the Fayette County Hereford Association, the banquet will be held in connection with a big Hereford sale Saturday at the Fairgrounds pavillion.

The sponsors expect that many out-of-town guests, coming to "the Herefordshire of Ohio" for the sale, will also attend the banquet Friday evening.

In many respects, the new series of dinners will resemble the old Corn Show banquets, discontinued — along with the original Corn Show—after the 1955 edition.

Like the Corn Show banquets, the new series will stress the common interests of this urban-rural community. Like them, it will be designed so that the city's businessmen will be hosts one year and the businessmen of the farm, the next.

The city men are to be hosts to the farmers this year.

* * *

BIGGEST differences between the Corn Show banquet and the new one are: (1) the sponsorship, which includes the Chamber of Commerce but substitutes the Hereford Association for the county Seed Improvement Association, and (2) the women are invited. The old Corn Show banquet was a men-only affair.

"We wanted to invite ladies, too, this year because we feel the demonstration of meat cutting on the program should interest them as much as their husbands," explained William Stoughton, new manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The demonstration, to be staged by Robert B. Havener, Extension Service meat specialist at Ohio State University, will illustrate the differences between top quality beef and meat which is merely good.

Havener will cut two carcasses, one of prime grade and one of good grade, and illustrate the differences in the various cuts of meat obtained from the two carcasses.

* * *

THE PROGRAM will also include music played during dinner by a band made up of Wshington C. H. High School band members.

Douglas Rider leads the band and other members are Earl Palmer, Byron Palmer, Dale Fent, Don Crissinger, Bob Crouse and Johnny Leland.

The program will be opened with a welcome by Paul Van Voorhis, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee which worked with the Hereford Association in planning the affair.

Van Voorhis will introduce Ray Brandenburg, who will act as toastmaster.

Serving on the Chamber's civic affairs committee with Van Voorhis are James Hutton, Don Gibson, Judge R. L. Brubaker, Belford Carpenter and Ray French.

Chairman of the Hereford Association's committee is Charles Shaper. William Braun and Brandenburg are the other members.

More than 100 tickets to the banquet have already been sold, Stoughton said Tuesday, adding, "We hope to have a capacity crowd of 200."

Tickets are available from members of both the Chamber and the Association.

Baldridge's Attorneys Overruled by Court in Attack on Damage Suit

Judge John P. Case has overruled a motion by counsel for George S. Baldridge to strike certain parts of Mrs. Irvin Patrick's petition in her $150,000 damage suit against the man who was convicted of the first degree manslaughter killing of her husband last Nov. 15.

Patrick, a game protector, was fatally shot on the Baldridge farm on the Prairie Pike less than two hours after the pheasant hunting season opened. Baldridge was sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary — and taken there— after his conviction in Common Pleas Court here of first degree manslaughter, but was soon released on $15,000 bond pending the outcome of his case before the Court of Appeals.

One portion of Mrs. Patrick's petition which Baldridge's attorneys, Emory F. Smith of Portsmouth, E. S. Young of West Union and W. S. Paxson of Washington C. H., sought to have stricken from the petition reads:

"Plaintiff's decedent, Irvin J. Patrick, aged 43 years, at the time of his death was employed as an officer in the Department of Conservation, Division of Wildlife of the State of Ohio and was serving as Game Protector of Fayette County Ohio."

Other parts of the petition challenged read:

"That while her decedent was taking his prisoner from the farm, the defendant pointed a loaded shotgun at plaintiff's decedent and ordered him not to take said prisoner; that while said plaintiff's decedent was being so assaulted and being obstructed in the execution of his office by this defendant—" etc.

The third section of the petition attacked reads:

"Plaintiff says that on the morning of November 15, 1955, her decedent while in the discharge of his duties as game protector was on the farm of the defendant, George S. Baldridge, located about seven miles northeast of Washington C. H., in Fayette County, Ohio, and while there placed one, Donald Butler under arrest for possession of a hen pheasant."

As result of Judge Case's refusal to strike any of the sections from the petition to which the defense objected, the petition filed by Mrs. Patrick stands as it was originally drawn.

Ray W. Davis of Circleville represents Mrs. Patrick in the action. He was also assistant prosecutor when Baldridge was tried on the second degree murder charge filed against him as result of the slaying of the game protector.

Parents OK School Tests In Hillsboro

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Most of the 24 Negro youngsters kept out of school here in a lengthy segregation dispute are slated to start classes again today.

Parents of 11 of the students Monday protested that the children were being assigned to lower grades than they were fitted for.

But the parents finally agreed to enroll the youngsters in the Webster-Washington school grades assigned by school officials after scholarship tests given last Friday.

The children were the center of a court fight lasting nearly two years over alleged segregation in Hillsboro elementary schools.

The dispute finally reached the U. S. Supreme Court which upheld an appellate court order calling for immediate integration of the children.

Of the seven children enrolled Monday, six went into the first grade and one went into the third grade. One youngster failed to be accepted into the first grade which is slated to end classes in about a month.

Five of the youngsters failed to take the tests on Friday. No explanation was given.

Woman Convicted Of Slaying Mate

CINCINNATI (AP) — Judge Ferd Bader ordered Mrs. Anna Riggs, 54, jailed yesterday pending sentence on conviction for first degree manslaughter in the death of her husband, Eugene.

A jury spent just over four hours reaching a decision Riggs was fatally wounded by a shotgun blast last Feb. 10 as he climbed the steps to his home.

Effort Readied To Override Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key Democrats reacted coldly today to President Eisenhower's new request for a soil bank program while they awaited the outcome of an uphill House attempt to override his veto of the farm bill.

That effort, due tomorrow, seemed doomed to fall short of mustering the two-thirds margin required.

Meanwhile, evidence of some Republican dissatisfaction with President Eisenhower's farm bill veto emerged today from a GOP campaign conference despite Party Chairman Leonard W. Hall's contention it "will help the Republican party."

Hall said the farm bill veto "won't make my job any tougher," but he indicated the Republicans hope to make up in the big cities votes they lose in farm areas.

Political debate over the veto and over responsibility for the decline in farm income increased

Eisenhower will speak at a final conference sesion tonight in formally opening his re-election campaign.

Eisenhower, in a nationwide television and radio broadcast last night explaining his veto, insisted that politics had not entered into his decision. He said:

"I will always resist any attempt to make the farmer and his problems a political football."

* * *

HE SAID HE had been told by persons he did not name that if was risky to veto such a bill in an election year.

"I am no political expert," he continued. "I have only one rule: through study, analysis and consultation—and by measuring each proposal against basic principles—I try to find out what is right, as I see it."

Declaring that he had vetoed the big farm bill with keen disappointment, he said:

"I had no choice. I could not sign this bill into law because it was a bad bill. In the months ahead, it would hurt more farmers than it would help. In the long run it would hurt all farmers. It was a bad bill for the country."

Eisenhower urged again that Congress act speedily to approve his soil bank program. It is designed to pay farmers subsidies totaling as much as $1.2 billion yearly for taking land out of production of crops in surplus.

This time, Eisenhower added a new feature he said would give farmers an extra $500 million this year.

* * *

REP. POAGE (D.-Tex), a senior member of the House Agriculture Committee, said that "the soil bank alone is out, it won't add one cent to the farmers' income."

Poage professed to see a chance that the House would vote to override Eisenhower's veto "if the Republicans who voted with us last week will vote with us again."

The House passed the bill 237-181 last week. If the same number of members voted, it would require 279 votes to override the veto. And there were signs that at least some of the 48 Republicans who voted for the bill would not vote to override the President.

Several said they accepted Eisenhower's decision although they would have been happier if he had approved the bill.

Here Is 1956 Farm Program

Present Setup Outlined After Veto By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the revisions President Eisenhower announced yesterday in a message to Congress vetoing a new farm bill, here are major points of the 1956 farm program as it now shapes up include:

Wheat — The crop is being grown under rigid marketing quotas which limit sales to production on 55 million acres, divided up among growers. To be supported at $2 a bushel or 84 per cent of parity compared with $2.08 or 82½ per cent of parity last year.

Corn—A planting allotment of 43,280,000 acres has been set for a designated commercial producing area comprising 840 major production counties in 23 states. This compares with 49,842,000 acres allotted a similar designated area last year. It had been announced that only farmers who planted within their allotments would be eligible for corn price supports. In his message, Eisenhower said the department will announce price support aid for non-cooperators on a level yet to be determined. The support for cooperators will be $1.50 a bushel or 86 per cent of parity compared with $1.58 or 87 per cent of parity last year.

* * *

PREVIOUSLY, non- cooperators on the corn allotment program have gotten no price support assistance. The support rate outside the commercial area is $1.13.

Other grains—No acreage allotments or marketing quotas are in effect for these crops. Farmers are free to grow as much of them as they want. Supports were set at 70 per cent of parity both for last year's crops and this year's. The 1956 rates are 93 cents a bushel compared with 94 cents last year for barley, 59 cents compared with 61 cents for oats, $1.16 compared with $1.18 for rye and $1.80 a hundred pounds compared with $1.78 for grain sorghum.

Car Once Owned By Prince Offered

SALEM, Mass. (AP) — Navy Lt. Stephen J. Stringos, 31, has put up for sale a custom-made 1951 automobile he says once belonged to Prince Rainier of Monaco. He said he bought the French Delahaye from an agent of the Prince in Paris last year. He declined to say how much he paid for it, but said he hopes to get more than $2,500.

Tot Eats 'Meal' Of Rusty Nails

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Jerry Leighton, 2, said he was still hungry after emergency hospital attendants relieved him of a meal of rusty nails, washed down with gasoline.

The nails, disclosed by X-ray were a surprise to everybody but Jerry's mother, Mrs. Betty Leighton. She said her son has "a tremendous appetite." Jerry, evidently undamaged, asked for a cookie as he left the hospital.

The 19-year-old youth, who had been on the foundation's campaign posters since it was established in 1950, was wasted away by the disease until he weighed only 35 pounds. He developed pneumonia Sunday.

He was the adopted son of Mrs. Louise Waller of Port Arthur.

Air Force Unveils Ship In California

Tactical Air Command To Get First Squads Of Lockheed F104A

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — The Lockheed F104A Starfighter, a missile with a man in it, has flown more than 1,000 miles an hour.

Several hundred persons, including the largest gathering of news writers of its kind, witnessed the achievement yesterday. It was the fastest an aircraft ever has flown before a sizable audience.

It was the first public showing of this dazzling new craft which Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, has called "the fastest and highest flying fighter anywhere in the sky."

The exact speed of the plane is a secret. Actually two models were flown—the original XF104, powered by a Curtiss-Wright J65 jet engine, and the production model F104A, which has a lighter and more powerful engine, the General Electric J79.

Although the speeds were not disclosed, the pilot of an F94C jet fighter reported he was flying 500 miles an hour, and the F104A pilot, Herman R. Fish Salmon, was heard to reply over his radio, "I am doing better than twice that fast."

A U. S. research plane, the Bell X1A, has flown 1650 mph, twice the speed of sound, but the speed is not an official record as it was not made over a regulation course.

The official world speed record of 1,132 mph was set recently in England by Britain's Fairey Delta experimental plane. The old record was 822 mph, held by a North American F100 jet fighter.

* * *

ROBERT GROSS, Lockheed Aircraft Corp. president, told the gathering that the F104 was "the champion in the fighter field--the finest fighter in the world."

Gen. Otto P. Weyland, commander of the Tactical Air Command, announced that his command would be the first to receive the new air superiority fighter, and the first planes soon will go into operational squadrons.

"This is much more than just another fighter," Weyland said.

"It is a significant and tremendous step forward in our progress on supersonic flight.

"To the Tactical Air Command this addition will mean a capability to strike harder and faster than any other tactical air arm in history.

"It will be a strong deterrent to any potential enemy. No other country in the world can match it at this time."

The most striking thing about the new fighter was its resemblance to a missile, largely because its wings are so short and stubby they hardly seem to qualify as airplane wings.

The F104A is 54 feet, 9 inches long, yet its wings extend out only 7½ feet from the fuselage.

The engine reportedly has a thrust of about 15,000 pounds. The plane is about half as heavy as other fighters so the thrust is the equivalent of that of a more powerful engine.

A. W. (Tony) LeVier, Lockheed's director of flying operations, said the F014 has the highest rate of climb of any fighter in the world.

The plane has such great power that it can climb just as fast as it can fly straight and level.

The Starfighter's straight wings are so thin that the leading edge is covered with felt while it is on the ground to protect crewmen from injury. Other features:

1. The first downward ejection seat to be used in a fighter craft.
2. The application of "boundary layer control," by "bleeding" air over the wing surface on takeoffs and landings to reduce turbulence and give added lift.

Boy's Death Brings $55,000 Payment

CLEVELAND (AP)—A $55,000 cash settlement from Hull-Dobbs, Inc., of Cleveland was accepted yesterday by the father of a youth who was injured fatally in a traffic accident in Michigan.

The money was awarded John Stevens of Cleveland, whose son, William, 16, was injured near Monroe, Mich., March 27, 1954, when a Hull-Dobbs truck crashed into an automobile in which young Stevens was riding. The youth died Dec. 30, 1954.

Mock 'Air Raid' Slated To Be Held in County

A full-scale mock air raid and evacuation operation are in store for Fayette County in "the near future."

Details of the operation are "classified" at present, according to George Montgomery, director of the county's Civil Defense rescue service.

But a hint as to the nature of the mock attack came when Montgomery revealed that on Monday evening, he and five other CD leaders from this county had witnessed a mock attack on Deer Park in suburban Cincinnati and the evacuation of "victims" to nearby Loveland in Clermont County.

Indications were that the "attack" here might be patterned closely upon the Deer Park — Loveland tests.

Called "Operation 22," the mock attack on Loveland started at 8 P. M. with the blaring of huge air raid warning sirens. The "attack" lasted for 20 minutes before the all-clear sounded.

During the attack, jets piloted by Air National Guard personnel screamed over the blacked-out city. Aerial bombs fired from the ground exploded over Deer Park, their blasts and flashes adding a further grim note of realism. A radar truck tracked the "attackers" through the skies.

* * *

VOLUNTEERS from Deer Park were "evacuated" to Loveland, where Loveland High School was set up for emergency first aid treatment and feeding of a mass meal.

The six CD observers from Fayette County checked the special CD equipment used at the site.

In addition to Montgomery, observers from here were Virgil Sexton, county CD director; Robert McAllister, deputy director; Lawrence Sheridan, communications director; Lyle Sowders, supervisor of the Ground Observer Corps here, and Alfred Hidy, a member of the communications unit.

Special equipment used during the test included some from the state Civil Defense organization, as well as equipment owned by the units in Clermont and Hamilton counties.

While details are "classified," the test will probably feature an mock raid on one of the county's "smaller communities," with another community in the county to be organized to serve the volunteer refugees, the officials indicated.

Beyond saying that the test will be scheduled for "the near future," they gave no further details.

Lookout ForYeggs Is Flop On Job

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police say the lookout for a safecracking trio is in bad with his cronies, and all three are in jail on suspicion of burglary because—

The lookout, instead of staying put, decided to do some extracurricular viewing, and in walking outside a market where the safe was being cracked he tripped the silent alarm.

Officers E. R. Wins and B. H. McGrahahan arrived, heard the vault being assailed by sledge hammers and drills, and sent for more policemen. They showed up with the owner of the market, who let the officers in with his key.

Very soon the two safecrackers were working in the glare of a police searchlight.

Suburb Near Philly Damaged By Wind

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A freak 86-mile-an-hour wind hit suburban Willow Grove without warning yesterday, causing one death, injuries to 11 persons and damage totalling $100,000.

The death and injuries resulted from the toppling of a 20-foot wall of cinder blocks at a construction project opposite the Willow Grove Naval Air Station. Construction worker Thilbert White, 45, of Philadelphia, died under the pile.

Seven of the injured were tumbled into the fallen masonry while the others were struck by pieces of wreckage.

East Liverpool Police Urged To Reorganize

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—Reorganization of the East Liverpool police department was suggested by the Columbiana County Grand Jury at Lisbon when it returned burglary indictments Monday against five suspended patrolmen and two former special officers.

Police Chief John Russell declined to comment on the jury's assertion his department as a whole was "inefficient, untrained and incapable of enforcing the laws of the city and state."

However, he promised today that "we will co-operate in every way with the recommendations of the grand jury."

Mayor Arnold Devon said he will not comment on the report until he has seen a copy of it.

Named in the indictments were suspended patrolmen Robert McBane, 33; Ira Cunningham, 50; Robert Carroll, 33; Louis Stuttler, 33, and Robert Hanna, 31, and former special officers Jerry Raimond, 28, and Dallas Bishop, 40.

All are free on bond.

The grand jury said its report, which was especially critical of Russell, should not be taken as a blanket indictment of all 22 members of the force.

The jurors said they believed Russell was "ignorant of the responsibilities of his position and wholly incapable of administering his duties."

In its comment on the gambling situation in this Ohio River city of 50,000, the grand jury said it found there had been "open and extensive" gambling and that it existed "with the consent of the police officers and city officials."

The arrest of Bishop March 10 on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property led to the indictments against the others. Investigators said property taken by Bishop had been stolen previously in a series of burglaries over a period of four years.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

In looks, too, Ford's out front—with styling that only the Thunderbird could inspire

Ford goes First!

In Performance
At NASCAR's Speed and Safety Event at Daytona, Ford won the Manufacturer's Trophy for best all-around performance. And Ford's 225-h.p. Thunderbird Special V-8, in one day, smashed 30 world speed records at Kingman, Arizona. No wonder Ford is the world's largest-selling eight.

In Safety
When the editors of "Motor Trend" unanimously voted Ford's safety program "the top car advance" of 1956, they had in mind Ford's Lifeguard Design . . . a whole family of safety features, including a deep-center steering wheel and double-grip door latches to help protect you in case of accident.

In Economy
In this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Customline V-8 with Fordomatic won over all cars in its class. The sturdier, heavier Ford carried more weight with greater gasoline economy per pound than any competitive car..."sixes" as well as "eights"! Ford proved itself a regular gas miser.

The way a Ford performs, the way it saves, the way it protects you, go hand-in-hand with the way it looks and lasts. Ford's look was inspired by America's most exciting car, the Thunderbird. Its rugged K-bar frame and carefully-built body give it the endurance and reliability traditional with Ford. These are the facts behind Ford's reputation as the car that's worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it, too! Come in and let us show you!

Mock 'Air Raid' Slated To Be Held in County

A full-scale mock air raid and evacuation operation are in store for Fayette County in "the near future."

Details of the operation are "classified" at present, according to George Montgomery, director of the county's Civil Defense rescue service.

But a hint as to the nature of the mock attack came when Montgomery revealed that on Monday evening, he and five other CD leaders from this county had witnessed a mock attack on Deer Park in suburban Cincinnati and the evacuation of "victims" to nearby Loveland in Clermont County.

Indications were that the "attack" here might be patterned closely upon the Deer Park — Loveland tests.

Called "Operation 22," the mock attack on Loveland started at 8 P. M. with the blaring of huge air raid warning sirens. The "attack" lasted for 20 minutes before the all-clear sounded.

During the attack, jets piloted by Air National Guard personnel screamed over the blacked-out city. Aerial bombs fired from the ground exploded over Deer Park, their blasts and flashes adding a further grim note of realism. A radar truck tracked the "attackers" through the skies.

• • •

VOLUNTEERS from Deer Park were "evacuated" to Loveland, where Loveland High School was set up for emergency first aid treatment and feeding of a mass meal.

The six CD observers from Fayette County checked the special CD equipment used at the site.

In addition to Montgomery, observers from here were Virgil Sexton, county CD director; Robert McAllister, deputy director; Lawrence Sheridan, communications director; Lyle Sowders, supervisor of the Ground Observer Corps here, and Alfred Hidy, a member of the communications unit.

Special equipment used during the test included some from the state Civil Defense organization, as well as equipment owned by the units in Clermont and Hamilton counties.

While details are "classified," the test will probably feature an mock raid on one of the county's "smaller communities," with another community in the county to be organized to serve the volunteer refugees, the officials indicated.

Beyond saying that the test will be scheduled for "the near future," they gave no further details.

Lookout ForYeggs Is Flop On Job

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police say the lookout for a safecracking trio is in bad with his cronies, and all three are in jail on suspicion of burglary because—

The lookout, instead of staying put, decided to do some extra-curricular viewing, and in walking outside a market where the safe was being cracked he tripped the silent alarm.

Officers E. R. Wins and B. H. McGrahahan arrived, heard the vault being assailed by sledge hammers and drills, and sent for more policemen. They showed up with the owner of the market, who let the officers in with his key.

Very soon the two safecrackers were working in the glare of a police searchlight.

Suburb Near Philly Damaged By Wind

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A freak 86-mile-an-hour wind hit suburban Willow Grove without warning yesterday, causing one death, injuries to 11 persons and damage totalling $100,000.

The death and injuries resulted from the toppling of a 20-foot wall of cinder blocks at a construction project opposite the Willow Grove Naval Air Station. Construction worker Thilbert White, 45, of Philadelphia, died under the pile.

Seven of the injured were tumbled into the fallen masonry while the others were struck by pieces of wreckage.

WILMINGTON — The state has rested in the case against Roy Watson, 31, charged with second degree murder of his cousin, Earl McKee, 37, during a poolroom fracas August 27, 1955.

East Liverpool Police Urged To Reorganize

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—Reorganization of the East Liverpool police department was suggested by the Columbiana County Grand Jury at Lisbon when it returned burglary indictments Monday against five suspended patrolmen and two former special officers.

Police Chief John Russell declined to comment on the jury's assertion his department as a whole was "inefficient, untrained and incapable of enforcing the laws of the city and state."

However, he promised today that "we will co-operate in every way with the recommendations of the grand jury."

Mayor Arnold Devon said he will not comment on the report until he has seen a copy of it.

Named in the indictments were suspended patrolmen Robert McBane, 33; Ira Cunningham, 50; Robert Carroll, 33; Louis Stuttler, 33, and Robert Hanna, 31, and former special officers Jerry Raimond, 28, and Dallas Bishop, 40.

All are free on bond.

The grand jury said its report, which was especially critical of Russell, should not be taken as a blanket indictment of all 22 members of the force.

The jurors said they believed Russell was "ignorant of the responsibilities of his position and wholly incapable of administering his duties."

In its comment on the gambling situation in this Ohio River city of 50,000, the grand jury said it found there had been "open and extensive" gambling and that it existed "with the consent of the police officers and city officials."

The arrest of Bishop March 10 on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property led to the indictments against the others. Investigators said property taken by Bishop had been stolen previously in a series of burglaries over a period of four years.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My mother lives in another country. My father passed on 13 years ago, and as my home was far distant, I arrived late for the funeral services. My other brothers were then living there.

In a talk with my mother at the time, she led me to believe that father had willed his entire estate to me, and that I should shoulder support of the home and her. Beginning in 1943, that I did; and was often confronted with unnecessary bills from various sources, incurred by mother. Also I paid taxes on the estate, on the assumption that I was investing in my inheritance.

Recently an older brother went to visit mother, and I heard from reliable sources that mother has signed over the place to him. Whereupon I wrote to mother, suggesting, in a diplomatic way, that as she is getting along in years, she should mail me the will, with the title (deed) to the property, so I could file them with my other important papers for safekeeping.

To my surprise, she didn't answer promptly, as when she needs money, etc.—but she wrote eventually and informed me that she has no papers and there is no will. Not wanting to hurt her, by saying things I might be sorry for, I haven't replied to her letter at all. Nor have I contributed to her support since then. In fact, I have taken a firm stand against doing anything for her.

D. M.

DEAR D. M.: I am wondering if your status as absentee son, during your father's last years, may have made you the favorite son, in your parents' imaginings, in that period? As the other sons lived nearby, perhaps the parents' memory was kept up-to-date, about their human defects.

Thus, towards the end of his life, perhaps your father fancied you the best of the lot, and talked to your mother in that vein, possibly implying that he'd like to see you take care of her, and get his property, in due course.

Evidently your mother hasn't much business sense, to judge by her unnecessary bills and the befuddled pattern of her dependency. So, in giving you to understand that dad had left a will in your favor, perhaps she was simply saying what she believed to be true—without checking, first, to obtain the facts.

Why don't you visit your mother for a forthright talk about business matters, to learn what's needed by her, and where you stand as regards possible future repayment for your cash giving? If you're not to be an heir, you might at least keep book on the bills and taxes you've paid so far, and any additional outlay along that line, to be assessed as debts against the estate eventually. Meanwhile, get legal advice about your rights on that score.

M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

4-H Club Activities

CHAFFIN CHICKS

A "bakeoff"—somewhat akin to a "spelldown," for the uninitiated—was held at a meeting of the Chaffin Chicks 4-H club.

Club members, who are presently giving intensive study to the ways and means of baking, divided into four groups and each set to work baking a different delicacy. The four products were a cake, a trayful of cookies, waffles and biscuits.

The business meeting of the session was conducted by Melanie McCullough. Marilyn Ross read secretary's report and Martha Haines a treasurer's report.

Hostesses were Judy Smith and Beverly Reeves.

• • •

WASHINGTON KILOWATTS

Bill Steen was elected president of the Washington Kilowatts at the club's meeting at the home of Dick Smith.

Other new officers are Gilbert Crouse, vice president; Mike Chakeres, secretary; Steve Herbert, treasurer; Bob Longberry, news reporter, and Bob Elsessor, health and safety leader.

After the election, the boys spent most of their meeting time discussing possible jobs for the rest of the club's 13 members.

During the recreation period, they played baseball at the park on Millikan Avenue.

Mrs. Richard Steen is the club's advisor.

"ITS SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

Be Glad You Are Overweight

Yes, be glad you are overweight if you are heavily insured and your family can use the money. Insurance companies predict that your days are numbered if you are carrying around excess weight and are not doing something about it. If you are overweight read this letter from V. Pridemore, 754 Wayne St., Cincinnati, Ohio who writes: "When I first started taking Rennel Concentrate I weighed 190 lbs. In the few weeks that I have been taking Rennel I have lost 45 lbs. and now weigh 145. I feel so much better and can do many things I could not do before when I was overweight."

Thousands of others have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on Rennel.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My mother lives in another country. My father passed on 13 years ago, and as my home was far distant, I arrived late for the funeral services. My other brothers were then living there.

In a talk with my mother at the time, she led me to believe that father had willed his entire estate to me, and that I should shoulder support of the home and her. Beginning in 1943, that I did; and was often confronted with unnecessary bills from various sources, incurred by mother. Also I paid taxes on the estate, on the assumption that I was investing in my inheritance.

Recently an older brother went to visit mother, and I heard from reliable sources that mother has signed over the place to him. Whereupon I wrote to mother, suggesting, in a diplomatic way, that as she is getting along in years, she should mail me the will, with the title (deed) to the property, so I could file them with my other important papers for safekeeping.

To my surprise, she didn't answer promptly, as when she needs money, etc.—but she wrote eventually and informed me that she has no papers and there is no will. Not wanting to hurt her, by saying things I might be sorry for, I haven't replied to her letter at all. Nor have I contributed to her support since then. In fact, I have taken a firm stand against doing anything for her.

D. M.

DEAR D. M.: I am wondering if your status as absentee son, during your father's last years, may have made you the favorite son, in your parents' imaginings, in that period? As the other sons lived nearby, perhaps the parents' memory was kept up-to-date, about their human defects.

Thus, towards the end of his life, perhaps your father fancied you the best of the lot, and talked to your mother in that vein, possibly implying that he'd like to see you take care of her, and get his property, in due course.

Evidently your mother hasn't much business sense, to judge by her unnecessary bills and the befuddled pattern of her dependency. So, in giving you to understand that dad had left a will in your favor, perhaps she was simply saying what she believed to be true—without checking, first, to obtain the facts.

Why don't you visit your mother for a forthright talk about business matters, to learn what's needed by her, and where you stand as regards possible future repayment for your cash giving? If you're not to be an heir, you might at least keep book on the bills and taxes you've paid so far, and any additional outlay along that line, to be assessed as debts against the estate eventually. Meanwhile, get legal advice about your rights on that score.

M. H.

4-H Club Activities

CHAFFIN CHICKS

A "bakeoff"—somewhat akin to a "spelldown," for the uninitiated—was held at a meeting of the Chaffin Chicks 4-H club.

Club members, who are presently giving intensive study to the ways and means of baking, divided into four groups and each set to work baking a different delicacy. The four products were a cake, a trayful of cookies, waffles and biscuits.

The business meeting of the session was conducted by Melanie McCullough. Marilyn Ross read secretary's report and Martha Haines a treasurer's report.

Hostesses were Judy Smith and Beverly Reeves.

WASHINGTON KILOWATTS

Bill Steen was elected president of the Washington Kilowatts at the club's meeting at the home of Dick Smith.

Other new officers are Gilbert Crouse, vice president; Mike Chakeres, secretary; Stevd Herbert, treasurer; Bob Longberry, news reporter, and Bob Elsessor, health and safety leader.

After the election, the boys spent most of their meeting time discussing possible jobs for the rest of the club's 13 members.

During the recreation period, they played baseball at the park on Millikan Avenue.

Mrs. Richard Steen is the club's advisor.

2 More Enlist In Company M

Four Promotions Also Announced

A pair of new enlistments and four promotions in the ranks of National Guard Company M here were announced today by Warrant Officer Robert J. Goodson.

Enlistments include James E. Kuebler and Clayton Lowe, both 17-year-old Fayette County boys. The two have been assigned to the 81 millimeter mortar platoon and will assume duties with the platoon after completing their four month's basic training.

Pvt. Lowe, a junior at Washington C. H. High School, is considering taking the Army National Guard eight week basic training program at Fort Dix, New Jersey this summer.

Private Kuebler, who lives on Route 4 near Washington C. H., is engaged in farming.

Among the company's new promotions, Sergeant Jack Greer, Jr., has been promoted to Sergeant First Class and will serve as a section leader. Corporal Raymond D. Smith has been promoted to the grade of sergeant and will be in charge of mortar operations.

Pfc. Richard A. Chaney has been promoted to Specialist 3rd Class and will be the unit's new switchboard operator. Private E-2 Herman Jones has been promoted to the grade of Pfc. He is currently serving in the anti-tank platoon.

After completing one weekend on the rifle range at Camp Sherman near Chillicothe, the unit is planning another excursion to the range, set for April 28 and 29. The company will take along up to 16 non-members over 17 years of age who would like to participate in the range practice.

History Interest Up

COLUMBUS (AP)—Erwin C. Zepp, director of the Ohio Historical Society, said records for attendance at the Ohio State Museum and 56 state memorials were set in 1955. Zepp said the records reflected "a surging new interest in the state's history."

Be Glad You Are Overweight

Yes, be glad you are overweight if you are heavily insured and your family can use the money. Insurance companies predict that your days are numbered if you are carrying around excess weight and are not doing something about it. If you are overweight read this letter from V. Pridemore, 754 Wayne St., Cincinnati, Ohio who writes: "When I first started taking Rennel Concentrate I weighed 190 lbs. In the few weeks that I have been taking Rennel I have lost 45 lbs. and now weigh 145. I feel so much better and can do many things I could not do before when I was overweight."

Thousands of others have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves — if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on Rennel.

Public Strongly Supports OSU Action

Fayette County has an important interest in the recent and still present turmoil at Ohio State University over criticism of the institution trustees there by the America Association of University Professors for the discharge of Prof. Darling because he refused to state before an investigating committee whether he was or had been a Communist.

There have been many students from Washington C. H. and Fayette County attending Ohio State through years past and present. Not only they but the families who send them, and the rest of the taxpayers of this locality, have a right to express some opinion.

So far as we have been able to learn, an overwhelming majority of the people of this community, and in most other places over the state, strongly support the OSU trustees and President Bevis in their official attitude.

The federal law is violated when one becomes a Communist. The Smith Act makes it a crime "to organize or help to organize any society, group, or assembly of persons who teach, advocate, or encourage the overthrow or destruction of any government in the United States by force or violence; or to be or become a member of, or affiliate with, any such society, group, or assembly of persons, knowing the purposes thereof."

One source of the contention in the Darling case at Ohio State University is the difference of opinion on the question of communist teachers held by the University administration and the American Association of University Professors. The latter in affirming recently an earlier recommendation that OSU be censured for firing Prof. Darling three years ago, also adopted a resolution stating that no teacher ought to be discharged for belonging to the Communist Party unless it is shown he is unfit to teach. To OSU authorities and, to nearly all parents of college students, that resolution is nonsensical.

Several weeks ago, in answer to the preliminary censure motion made by a special AAUP committee, OSU President Bevis argued effectively that no communist is "fit" to teach in a democratic educational system, that his allegiance to the party requires him to subvert truth to Marxist conformity. As Dr. Bevis put it: "No party member is free to hold or express thoughts or opinions at variance with the current party line."

That is one part of the story. Another is indicated above in the wording of the Smith Act. The Communist Party is not simply a political group holding unpopular beliefs: it is a conspiratorial organization striving for the violent downfall of democratic government. There is no more reason for allowing an active Red to instruct American youth than there would be for permitting a member of a crime syndicate to train candidates for the FBI. Both would work for the destruction of institutions they were hired to defend.

Laff-A-Day

"Stealing ash trays is one thing — but this is going too far!"

Tom Loughran Shuns Past

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"I don't live in the past—I guard against it," said Thomas Loughran. "I know too many guys who got to living in the past, and ruined their lives by doing it. I never kept a scrapbook."

Loughran, a handsome, middle-aged Wall Street sugar broker, does have quite a past to recall, however, and he prefers the sweet memories.

At the age of 17, Tommy, one of seven children of a Philadelphia motorman, laced on a pair of boxing gloves in earnest.

In the next 18 years he fought 227 bouts and earned "well—more than a million dollars." He fought in three classes, middleweight to heavyweight, won and resigned undefeated the light heavyweight title. He fought 23 men who were, became or had been world champions. The ring records show he was shaded 23 times, but knocked out only twice.

He was for years the incomparable "Philadelphia Adonis," one of the true boxers of history, famous for his left jab.

Tommy began as a pretty good right-handed slugger and had an early string of knockouts.

Then something happened to his right hand.

"They say I broke it, but I really didn't," he recalled. "The covering of the knuckles just got so inflamed that when I hit someone I could hardly keep from screaming.

"I went to work building up the muscles in my left. Took a year. I worked until I could hold a 10-ounce dumbell in my left at arm's length for half an hour—yes, only 10 ounces, but try it sometime—then go on and jab the bag a thousand times."

Tommy, who at 53 keeps his weight to a trim 193 pounds by working out five times a week and eating only two meals a day, looked down at the two eggs on his luncheon plate and said:

"Any fighter could do what I did. But they don't train as they did in the old days. Life has become too comfortable. What has ruined more fighters than anything? It's the primrose path—taking the easy way."

"There is no more dishonesty in boxing than there is in any other profession," Loughran said. "Boxing is no worse now than it was in the old days. There's an element of badness in everything. If that would kill boxing, it would have killed it long ago.

"I was approached dozens of times to throw a match, but my manager (the late Joe Smith), would never consider a thing like that—and that's all there was to it."

Tommy does feel the boxing industry suffers now from poor promotion (too much dependence on TV) and monopoly moves by fight managers. He recognizes that young fighters are pushed ahead and outmatched to make a manager or a promoter a quick buck, but says that happened often in his time, too.

"It takes at least two years of actual fighting (35 to 40 fights) for a man to move into the championship contending class," he said. "By then he'll be boxing about as well as he's able to."

Loughran, who says he always got more personal pleasure out of "frustrating an opponent" than belting him, divides the field into fighters, boxers and fighter-boxers.

He rates Jack Dempsey as the greatest fighter in his lifetime (he never fought him), Mike Gibbons as the greatest boxer, and Harry Greb and Mickey Walker as the finest combination box-and-sock artists.

"But Rocky Marciano is the only fighter I ever saw who could take you out with one punch from either hand," he added. "Dempsey or Joe Louis, both great punchers, needed several blows to finish a fellow off."

Tommy himself remains a hard man to tag with a glove or a phrase. He is pleasantly cautious, quietly religious.

"I always lived a conservative life," he said. "I never drank or smoked, or got married. I always, even as a young fellow, feared the possessiveness of women. But I think marriage is a beautiful thing—for the other guy."

Russian Red Documents Galore

By George Sokolsky

I am now reading the speeches that were delivered at the 20th Congress of C P S U, which started all the hub-bub of making a bum out of Stalin. The speeches are long and tiresome. The Russians talk too much. Nobody could ever be elected President of the United States if he made a sevenhour speech. Khruschev's speech runs 116 pages which is a lot of talk under any circumstance.

It is a labor to little real purpose, perhaps more valuable for a Ph. D. than a journalist, because no matter what was said, it brought important changes not only within Russia but in nearly all countries. These speeches are being used as an excuse for more intensive neutralism and have become an embarrassment to such a government as the present one in Great Britain which, in effect, is being invaded by the top-most Russian officials in one of the most brilliantly planned publicity stunts designed to shape world public opinion.

Another document before me is the "Statement on the Findings of the Conference of Privy Councillors on Security." It is not the report that was made to the British government but a summary of it issued to the public as a white paper. Undoubtedly, privy councillors were appointed to deal with this matter on account of the Burgess and MacLean scandal which can no longer be suppressed. It is now known that these two not only acted as Russian agents in Great Britain and the United States, but that they are now employed by the Russian Foreign Ministry.

The conference "point out that, whereas once the main risk to be guarded against was espionage by foreign powers carried out by professional agents, to-day the chief risks are presented by communists and by other persons who care for one reason or another are subject to communist influence. The communist faith overrides a man's normal loyalties to his country and induces the belief that it is justifiable to hand over secret information to the communist party or to the communist foreign power. This risk from communists is not, however, confined to party members, either open or underground, but extends to sympathizers with communism."

This has been the attitude of American Congressional committees since Martin Dies and is called by the communists, McCarthyism, whether spelled with a capital or small M. In the last sentence of the quotation it is assumed that the fellow-traveller is as wicked as the member of the party and the only way to establish a fellow-traveller according to nearly 20 years of investigation, has been by association.

In fact in the sixth paragraph of the report, it is stated:

"One of the chief problems of security to-day is thus to identify its activities and to identify that wider body of those who are both sympathetic to communism, or susceptible to communist pressure and present a danger to security. Thereeafter steps must be taken to see that secret information is not handled by anyone who, for ideological or other motives, may betray it."

While guilt by association always leads to great injustices, it is only right that a government should resolve some doubts in its own favor; what it amounts to is a decision that when in doubt there should be no employment.

This report was prepared by members of both parties, including Earl Jowitt who wrote a book in defense of Alger Hiss; nevertheless its 15th paragraph contains a statement of the rights of the individual which almost amounts to a constitutional change in Great Britain:

"The conference is of the opinion that in deciding these difficult and often borderline cases, it is right to continue the practice of tilting the balance in favour of offering greater protection to the security of the state rather than in the direction of safeguarding the rights of the individual. They recommend that an individual who is living with a wife or husband who is a communist or a communist sympathiser may, for that reason alone, have to be moved from secret work, and that the same principle should be applied in other cases of a like nature."

The Russians sure have changed our world even against our wishes. No such statemen would have appeared in an official British report two generations ago.

Methodist Seen Slowing Integration

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The secretary of the General Conference of the Methodist Church predicts that the quadrennial meeting will postpone any action on racial integration in the church.

Dr. Lud H. Estes of Memphis, secretary since 1939, said the two-week quadrennial session beginning April 25 in Minneapolis probably will set up a commission to study the issue further.

The commission would report to the next meeting of the General Conference in 1960.

The specific issue, said Estes, would be whether the church's Central Jurisdiction should be abolished and its 200,000 Negro members be integrated into the General Conference.

Halt Breast Cancer By Early Detection

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Because of ignorance and delay, thousands of women are needlessly sacrificed to cancer each year.

Annual death toll from breast cancer is about 20,000. But there is absolutely no good reason why breast cancer should kill this many women.

Local Tumor

Cancer of the breast always begins as an accessible local tumor. It is an easy thing to detect. We need no elaborate tests to determine its existence. In fact, you may possibly locate it before your doctor does—if you know what to look for. And early detection may mean quick cure.

Why then is the death toll so high? The answer is simple and frightening.

Wrong Belief

Too many persons—maybe you are one of them—still believe that all cancer is fatal. You just don't know much about the disease. Well, let 'met try to correct this situation as far as breast cancer is concerned right now.

Following are nine signals which might mean breast cancer. Be on the lookout for any of them:

1. Any lump in your breast.
2. Any deformity or alteration in the usual shape of the breast.
3. Lifting or elevation of the breast or nipple.
4. Retraction or sinking of the nipple.
5. Dimpling or puckering of the skin.
6. A rash around the nipple.
7. Bleeding or discharge from the nipple.
8. A swollen node or "gland" in the armpit.
9. A running sore on the skin of the breast.

Have a Checkup

Let me emphasize that these signs, any of them, do not necessarily mean that you have cancer. But they do mean you should see your doctor for a checkup right away.

Make an appointment for a complete examination today. Do not wait until tomorrow. Delay one day and you're likely to wait many more. And delay where cancer is concerned can be dangerous—even fatal.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A Reader: What is the cause of chapped lips? Is there any cure for it?

Answer: Chapped lips are usually seen in nervous people who moisten and bite their lips excessively and then expose the lips to cold winds.

A lack of vitamin B-2, or riboflavin, may also be a contributing cause.

Chapping generally yields to some simple ointment, such as cold cream, unless a secondary infection has occurred.

Public Strongly Supports OSU Action

Fayette County has an important interest in the recent and still present turmoil at Ohio State University over criticism of the institution trustees there by the America Association of University Professors for the discharge of Prof. Darling because he refused to state before an investigating committee whether he was or had been a Communist.

There have been many students from Washington C. H. and Fayette County attending Ohio State through years past and present. Not only they but the families who send them, and the rest of the taxpayers of this locality, have a right to express some opinion.

So far as we have been able to learn, an overwhelming majority of the people of this community, and in most other places over the state, strongly support the OSU trustees and President Bevis in their official attitude.

The federal law is violated when one becomes a Communist. The Smith Act makes it a crime "to organize or help to organize any society, group, or assembly of persons who teach, advocate, or encourage the overthrow or destruction of any government in the United States by force or violence; or to be or become a member of, or affiliate with, any such society, group, or assembly of persons, knowing the purposes thereof."

One source of the contention in the Darling case at Ohio State University is the difference of opinion on the question of communist teachers held by the University administration and the American Association of University Professors. The latter in affirming recently an earlier recommendation that OSU be censured for firing Prof. Darling three years ago, also adopted a resolution stating that no teacher ought to be discharged for belonging to the Communist Party unless it is shown he is unfit to teach. To OSU authorities and, to nearly all parents of college students, that resolution is nonsensical.

Several weeks ago, in answer to the preliminary censure motion made by a special AAUP committee, OSU President Bevis argued effectively that no communist is "fit" to teach in a democratic educational system, that his allegiance to the party requires him to subvert truth to Marxist conformity. As Dr. Bevis put it: "No party member is free to hold or express thoughts or opinions at variance with the current party line."

That is one part of the story. Another is indicated above in the wording of the Smith Act. The Communist Party is not simply a political group holding unpopular beliefs: it is a conspiratorial organization striving for the violent downfall of democratic government. There is no more reason for allowing an active Red to instruct American youth than there would be for permitting a member of a crime syndicate to train candidates for the FBI. Both would work for the destruction of institutions they were hired to defend.

Halt Breast Cancer By Early Detection

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Because of ignorance and delay, thousands of women are needlessly sacrificed to cancer each year.

Annual death toll from breast cancer is about 20,000. But there is absolutely no good reason why breast cancer should kill this many women.

Local Tumor

Cancer of the breast always begins as an accessible local tumor. It is an easy thing to detect. We need no elaborate tests to determine its existence. In fact, you may possibly locate it before your doctor does—if you know what to look for. And early detection may mean quick cure.

Why then is the death toll so high? The answer is simple and frightening.

Wrong Belief

Too many persons—maybe you are one of them—still believe that all cancer is fatal. You just don't know much about the disease. Well, let met try to correct this situation as far as breast cancer is concerned right now.

Following are nine signals which might mean breast cancer. Be on the lookout for any of them:

1. Any lump in your breast.
2. Any deformity or alteration in the usual shape of the breast.
3. Lifting or elevation of the breast or nipple.
4. Retraction or sinking of the nipple.
5. Dimpling or puckering of the skin.
6. A rash around the nipple.
7. Bleeding or discharge from the nipple.
8. A swollen node or "gland" in the armpit.
9. A running sore on the skin of the breast.

Have a Checkup

Let me emphasize that these signs, any of them, do not necessarily mean that you have cancer. But they do mean you should see your doctor for a checkup right away.

Make an appointment for a complete examination today. Do not wait until tomorrow. Delay one day and you're likely to wait many more. And delay where cancer is concerned can be dangerous—even fatal.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A Reader: What is the cause of chapped lips? Is there any cure for it?

Answer: Chapped lips are usually seen in nervous people who moisten and bite their lips excessively and then expose the lips to cold winds.

A lack of vitamin B-2, or riboflavin, may also be a contributing cause.

Chapping generally yields to some simple ointment, such as cold cream, unless a secondary infection has occurred.

Tom Loughran Shuns Past

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"I don't live in the past—I guard against it," said Thomas Loughran. "I know too many guys who got to living in the past, and ruined their lives by doing it. I never kept a scrapbook."

Loughran, a handsome, middle-aged Wall Street sugar broker, does have quite a past to recall, however, and he prefers the sweet memories.

At the age of 17, Tommy, one of seven children of a Philadelphia motorman, laced on a pair of boxing gloves in earnest.

In the next 18 years he fought 227 bouts and earned "well—more than a million dollars." He fought in three classes, middleweight to heavyweight, won and resigned undefeated the light heavyweight title. He fought 23 men who were, became or had been world champions. The ring records show he was shaded 23 times, but knocked out only twice.

He was for years the incomparable "Philadelphia Adonis," one of the true boxers of history, famous for his left jab.

Tommy began as a pretty good right-handed slugger and had an early string of knockouts.

Then something happened to his right hand.

"They say I broke it, but I really didn't," he recalled. "The covering of the knuckles just got so inflamed that when I hit someone I could hardly keep from screaming.

"I went to work building up the muscles in my left. Took a year. I worked until I could hold a 10-ounce dumbell in my left at arm's length for half an hour—yes, only 10 ounces, but try it sometime—then go on and jab the bag a thousand times."

Tommy, who at 53 keeps his weight to a trim 193 pounds by working out five times a week and eating only two meals a day, looked down at the two eggs on his luncheon plate and said:

"Any fighter could do what I did. But they don't train as they did in the old days. Life has become too comfortable. What has ruined more fighters than anything? It's the primrose path—taking the easy way."

"There is no more dishonesty in boxing than there is in any other profession," Loughran said. "Boxing is no worse now than it was in the old days. There's an element of badness in everything. If that would kill boxing, it would have killed it long ago.

"I was approached dozens of times to throw a match, but my manager (the late Joe Smith), would never consider a thing like that—and that's all there was to it."

Tommy does feel the boxing industry suffers now from poor promotion (too much dependence on TV) and monopoly moves by fight managers. He recognizes that young fighters are pushed ahead and outmatched to make a manager or a promoter a quick buck, but says that happened often in his time, too.

"It takes at least two years of actual fighting (35 to 40 fights) for a man to move into the championship contending class," he said. "By then he'll be boxing about as well as he's able to."

Loughran, who says he always got more personal pleasure out of "frustrating an opponent" than belting him, divides the field into fighters, boxers and fighter-boxers.

He rates Jack Dempsey as the greatest fighter in his lifetime (he never fought him), Mike Gibbons as the greatest boxer, and Harry Greb and Mickey Walker as the finest combination box and-sock artists.

"But Rocky Marciano is the only fighter I ever saw who could take you out with one punch from either hand," he added. "Dempsey or Joe Louis, both great punchers, needed several blows to finish a fellow off."

Tommy himself remains a hard man to tag with a glove or a phrase. He is pleasantly cautious, quietly religious.

"I always lived a conservative life," he said. "I never drank or smoked, or got married. I always, even as a young fellow, feared the possessiveness of women. But I think marriage is a beautiful thing—for the other guy."

Russian Red Documents Galore

By George Sokolsky

I am now reading the speeches that were delivered at the 20th Congress of CPSU, which started all the hub-bub of making a bum out of Stalin. The speeches are long and tiresome. The Russians talk too much. Nobody could ever be elected President of the United States if he made a sevenhour speech. Khruschev's speech runs 116 pages which is a lot of talk under any circumstance.

It is a labor to little real purpose, perhaps more valuable for a Ph. D. than a journalist, because no matter what was said, it brought important changes not only within Russia but in nearly all countries. These speeches are being used as an excuse for more intensive neutralism and have become an embarrassment to such a government as the present one in Great Britain which, in effect, is being invaded by the top-most Russian officials in one of the most brilliantly planned publicity stunts designed to shape world public opinion.

Another document before me is the "Statement on the Findings of the Conference of Privy Councillors on Security." It is not the report that was made to the British government but a summary of it isued to the public as a white paper. Undoubtedly, privy councillors were appointed to deal with this matter on account of the Burgess and MacLean scandal which can no longer be suppressed. It is now known that these two not only acted as Russian agents in Great Britain and the United States, but that they are now employed by the Russian Foreign Ministry.

The conference "point out that, whereas once the main risk to be guarded against was espionage by foreign powers carried out by professional agents, to-day the chief risks are presented by communists and by other persons who care for one reason or another are subject to communist influence. The communist faith overrides a man's normal loyalties to his country and induces the belief that it is justifiable to hand over secret information to the communist party or to the communist foreign power. This risk from communists is not, however, confined to party members, either open or underground, but extends to sympathizers with communism."

This has been the attitude of American Congressional committees since Martin Dies and is called by the communists, McCarthyism, whether spelled with a capital or small M. In the last sentence of the quotation it is assumed that the fellow-traveller is as wicked as the member of the party and the only way to establish a fellow-traveller according to nearly 20 years of investigation, has been by association.

In fact in the sixth paragraph of the report, it is stated:

"One of the chief problems of security to-day is thus to identify its activities and to identify that wider body of those who are both sympathetic to communism, or susceptible to communist pressure and present a danger to security. Thereeafter steps must be taken to see that secret information is not handled by anyone who, for ideological or other motives, may betray it."

While guilt by association always leads to great injustices, it is only right that a government should resolve some doubts in its own favor; what it amounts to is a decision that when in doubt there should be no employment.

This report was prepared by members of both parties, including Earl Jowitt who wrote a book in defense of Alger Hiss; nevertheless its 15th paragraph contains a statement of the rights of the government over the rights of the individual which almost amounts to a constitutional change in Great Britain:

"The conference is of the opinion that in deciding these difficult and often borderline cases, it is right to continue the practice of tilting the balance in favour of offering greater protection to the security of the state rather than in the direction of safeguarding the rights of the individual. They recommend that an individual who is living with a wife or husband who is a communist or a communist sympathiser may, for that reason alone, have to be moved from secret work, and that the same principle should be applied in other cases of a like nature."

The Russians sure have changed our world even against our wishes. No such statemen would have appeared in an official British report two generations ago.

Methodist Seen Slowing Integration

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The secretary of the General Conference of the Methodist Church predicts that the quadrennial meeting will postpone any action on racial integration in the church.

Dr. Lud H. Estes of Memphis, secretary since 1939, said the two-week quadrennial session beginning April 25 in Minneapolis probably will set up a commission to study the issue further.

The commission would report to the next meeting of the General Conference in 1960.

The specific issue, said Estes, would be whether the church's Central Jurisdiction should be abolished and its 200,000 Negro members be integrated into the General Conference.

Mrs. Joe Rush Is Hostess To Sorority

The regular meeting of Zeta Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Joe Rush, with twelve members in attendance.

Mrs. Ruth Glass, president, called the meeting to order and conducted the opening ritual.

The secretary, Mrs. John Richards, gave her report as did the treasurer, Mrs. Virgil Lowe, both of which were accepted as read.

Final plans were made for the delegates, Mrs. John Richards and Mrs. Harry Fichthorn to attend the Ohio State Convention at the Deshler Hilton Hotel in Columbus, May 25, 26 and 27.

Plans were also completed for the annual "Husbands Party", April 27 at the Fayette Grange Hall with Mrs. Robert Klever, general chairman in charge of arrangements for the covered dish dinner which will highlight the party.

The formal and impressive ceremony of the Ritual of Jewels was conducted by the president, Mrs. Glass, by candlelight, and those receiving jewelled pins were Miss Martha Hughes, Mrs. Rodney Sheline and Mrs. Robert Hackemeyer.

Following the ceremony Mrs. William Williams was in charge of the program using as topic "Art In the Home" for a most interesting discussion.

Mrs. Williams stressed the building of a home and dreams fulfilled in a home giving many ideas and plans, needed to construct a home, pointing out that an architect can build a home essential to family needs, much better if he knows the family personally.

Following the program Mrs. Glass led in the closing ritual and Mrs. Rush assisted by the social committee Mrs. Robert Klever, Mrs. Robert Hackemeyer and Mrs. Ruth Glass served a dainty salad course.

Two Hostesses Honor Mrs. Kirk At Shower

Mrs. Jack Cupp and Miss Harlett Cunningham combined hospitalities at the home of Mrs. Cupp when they honored Mrs. Kenneth Kirk at a layette shower.

Games were provided as entertainment for the guests and awards going to Mrs. Jerry Dray, Mrs. Richard Hughes and Mrs. Loretta Vincent were in turn presented to the honored guest, who opened her shower gifts at a table centered with a large stork holding a baby in a diaper.

Gracious response was made by Mrs. Kirk for each gift and later refreshments served featured individual cakes and ice cream served with miniature storks and imported sugar candy babies as favors.

Invited guests included were: Mrs. Marion Cockerill, Mrs. Wendell Kirk, Mrs. Frelan Van Meter, Mrs. Jerry Dray, Mrs. Harold Thompson, Miss Kay Morter, Mrs. Robert Blake, Mrs. Loretta Vincent, Mrs. Rodney Vincent, Miss Rosella Dowden, Miss Jean Perrill, Mrs. Harley Evans, Mrs. Richard Cottrill, Mrs. Sam Marting, Jr., Mrs. Donald Cockerill, Mrs. Richard Phillips, and Mrs. Richard Hughes.

Campfire Girls Hold Meeting

The Towanka Camp Fire Girls group met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Robert Woodmansee, to go on an interesting tour of the Washington C. H. Post Office where the handling of mail was explained.

They returned to the home of their leader for the business meeting during which memory books and honors earned were checked for the passing of the Trail-Seekers Desire rank.

Members present: were Karen Woodmansee, Judy Meyer, Naomi Holloway, Phyllis Wallace, Jeri Anderson, Karen Havens, Jaye Williams, Arita Moats, and Carmella Cousins and Mrs. Robert Wallace, assistant leader.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wallace.

Polio Vaccine Change Urged

Ohio Chief Stresses Use Of First Shots

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Department of Health today recommended modification of the state's polio vaccine program.

Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director, said the present supply of vaccine should be used for first inoculations only without saving any for second injections.

"The present available supply of vaccine, which represents but 50 percent of Ohio's need, should be used for one inoculation in as many children as possible," Dwork said.

The health director recommended that the age group 1 through 10 should still receive first priority. However, if one inoculation were given these children the supply would be in excess of the demand in this age group and could then be used in the age group 11 through 15, Dwork said, adding:

"We learned through considerable study that one inoculation offers a tangible amount of protection against polio.

* * *

"ONE INOCULATION offers about 50 to 75 per cent protection against polio while two inoculations sometimes attain the maximum 80 to 90 per cent protection."

He explained that as soon as all local areas have received initial supplies of vaccine, areas which have already completed two inoculations in the 1 through 10 age group may use later supplies for first inoculations for children between 11 and 15 and pregnant women.

"It is our opinion that the new inoculation schedule will yield the maximum amount of protection from existing supplies," he said.

Dwork said investigation concerning the third inoculation is still underway and plans for its administration should be delayed until the unprotected population has had first and second shots.

Polio Vaccine Change Urged

Ohio Chief Stresses Use Of First Shots

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Department of Health today recommended modification of the state's polio vaccine program.

Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director, said the present supply of vaccine should be used for first inoculations only without saving any for second injections.

"The present available supply of vaccine, which represents but 50 percent of Ohio's need, should be used for one inoculation in as many children as possible," Dwork said.

The health director recommended that the age group 1 through 10 should still receive first priority. However, if one inoculation were given these children the supply would be in excess of the demand in this age group and could then be used in the age group 11 through 15, Dwork said, adding:

"We learned through considerable study that one inoculation offers a tangible amount of protection against polio.

* * *

"ONE INOCULATION offers about 50 to 75 per cent protection against polio while two inoculations sometimes attain the maximum 80 to 90 per cent protection."

He explained that as soon as all local areas have received initial supplies of vaccine, areas which have already completed two inoculations in the 1 through 10 age group may use later supplies for first inoculations for children between 11 and 15 and pregnant women.

"It is our opinion that the new inoculation schedule will yield the maximum amount of protection from existing supplies," he said.

Dwork said investigation concerning the third inoculation is still underway and plans for its administration should be delayed until the unprotected population has had first and second shots.

Mrs. Orville Weidinger was hostess to members of the Golden Rule Class of the Good Hope Methodist Church for the regular April meeting.

Mrs. Charles H. Goldsberry, class president, called the meeting to order and Mrs. Jesse Linton led in the devotions, reading an interesting account of the life of Mary Magdalene.

Eleven members responded to roll call and the usual reports were followed with a contribution made to the Cancer Fund and the meeting closed with the praying of the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Dana Kellenberger conducted the program and conducted a round of games and later refreshments were served by the hostess.

Yellow snapdragons and yellow iris in lovely arrangements decorated the dinner tables which were softly lighted with yellow tapers and yellow rose corsages were favors at each place.

Preceding the serving the invocation was led by the president, Mrs. Roy Hagler, and the group sang the National Anthem.

The Detroit Red Wings have participated in the Stanley Cup playoffs for 18 consecutive years. No other team in the National Hockey League can match this record.

SWO Opening Schedule Set

Good Hope May Get Field Here In City

Opening day for the SWO League, May 6, will see only one of the three Fayette County teams in the loop playing on its home diamond.

That one is Milledgeville, but since its opponent is to be Jeffersonville, fans from Jeff won't have a long trip to see their boys get in to action.

The county's third SWO team, Good Hope, will be the only one headed out of the county. It is scheduled to play at Bainbridge.

Other opening day games will pit the Chillicothe Businessmen against Chillicothe Reformatory on the reformatory diamond, and Hillsboro will play at Wilmington.

During the same planning session that gave birth to the league schedule, league officials learned from Manager Tom Smalley of the Good Hope team that his men may be able to play on a Washington C. H. diamond this year.

* * *

MOST OF the team's members are, like Smalley, residents of Washington C. H. In fact, the original name of the team was "Washington C. H. Merchants." But over the years, Smalley's team came to be known as "Good Hope" because that was where the home diamond was.

But now, with announcement that a diamond is being built in the park on Millikan Avenue in Washington C. H., the possibility exists that the team may once again become "Washington C. H."

The only possible stumbling block is the fact that both the SWO League and the American Legion Juniors here play Sundays.

But Smalley expressed confidence that he and the manager of the Legion Juniors could work out time schedules that would prevent conflict.

Redlegs Release Bud Podbielan

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pitcher Bud Podbielan, 31-year-old righthander was released yesterday to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League by the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Podbielan came to the Reds from Brooklyn in 1952. He had a 1-2 record last year after a fractured throwing wrist sidelined him most of the season.

Alston Broods Over Future Of His Bums

BROOKLYN (AP) — Walt Alston, king of the sovereign state of Flatbush, principality of Brooklyn, wore a thoughtful look today as he prepared to lead his world champion Dodgers into their first combat of 1956.

"If our pitching comes through, we'll be all right," opined the former school master who piloted the Brooks to their first world's championship last season.

"It has looked bad generally in the South," he added, frowning just a little.

Possibly he was thinking back to the pre-season statements of his predecessors — Leo Durocher, Barney Shotton and Chuck Dressen. Their problem always was pitching, too.

Big Don Newcombe, the starter in the opener against the Philadelphia Phillies, was a case in point. Newk is being counted on to act as bellwether of the staff.

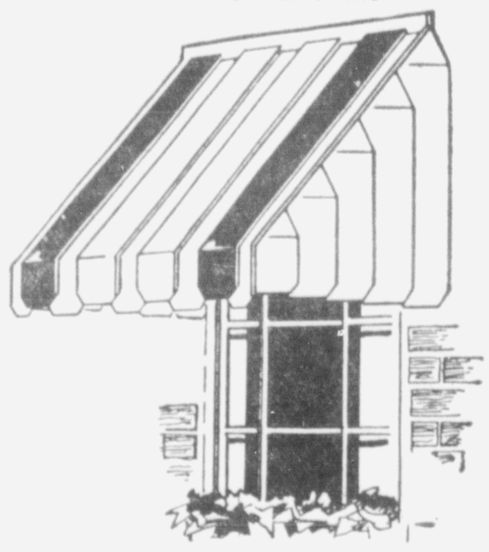

"But he's been blowing hot and cold all spring," sighed Alston.

The lefthanded brigade of Brooklyn pitchers is vanishing before Alston's very eyes. Johnny Podres of World Series fame, is in the Navy, Karl Spooner has a sore arm, and Ken Lehman, who was the heir-apparent to Podres' job, has failed to shape up.

"We have been hard hit by injuries," observed Alston, "and under the circumstances, a heavier burden has been placed on our youngsters, Roger Craig, Sandy Koufax and Don Bessent."

The Detroit Red Wings have participated in the Stanley Cup playoffs for 18 consecutive years. No other team in the National Hockey League can match this record.

SWO Opening Schedule Set

Good Hope May Get Field Here In City

Opening day for the SWO League, May 6, will see only one of the three Fayette County teams in the loop playing on its home diamond.

That one is Milledgeville, but since its opponent is to be Jeffersonville, fans from Jeff won't have a long trip to see their boys get into action.

The county's third SWO team, Good Hope, will be the only one headed out of the county. It is scheduled to play at Bainbridge.

Other opening day games will pit the Chillicothe Businessmen against Chillicothe Reformatory on the reformatory diamond, and Hillsboro will play at Wilmington.

During the same planning session that gave birth to the league schedule, league officials learned from Manager Tom Smalley of the Good Hope team that his men may be able to play on a Washington C. H. diamond this year.

* * *

MOST OF the team's members are, like Smalley, residents of Washington C. H. In fact, the original name of the team was "Washington C. H. Merchants." But over the years, Smalley's team came to be known as "Good Hope" because that was where the home diamond was.

But now, with announcement that a diamond is being built in the park on Millikan Avenue in Washington C. H., the possibility exists that the team may once again become "Washington C. H."

The only possible stumbling block is the fact that both the SWO League and the American Legion Juniors here play Sundays.

But Smalley expressed confidence that he and the manager of the Legion Juniors could work out time schedules that would prevent conflict.

Redlegs Release Bud Podbielan

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pitcher Bud Podbielan, 31-year-old righthander, was released yesterday to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League by the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Podbielan came to the Reds from Brooklyn in 1952. He had a 1-2 record last year after a fractured throwing wrist sidelined him most of the season.

Alston Broods Over Future Of His Bums

BROOKLYN (AP) — Walt Alston, king of the sovereign state of Flatbush, principality of Brooklyn, wore a thoughtful look today as he prepared to lead his world champion Dodgers into their first combat of 1956.

"If our pitching comes through, we'll be all right," opined the former school master who piloted the Brooks to their first world's championship last season.

"It has looked bad generally in the South," he added, frowning just a little.

Possibly he was thinking back to the pre-season statements of his predecessors — Leo Durocher, Barney Shotton and Chuck Dressen. Their problem always was pitching, too.

Big Don Newcombe, the starter in the opener against the Philadelphia Phillies, was a case in point. Newk is being counted on to act as bellwether of the staff.

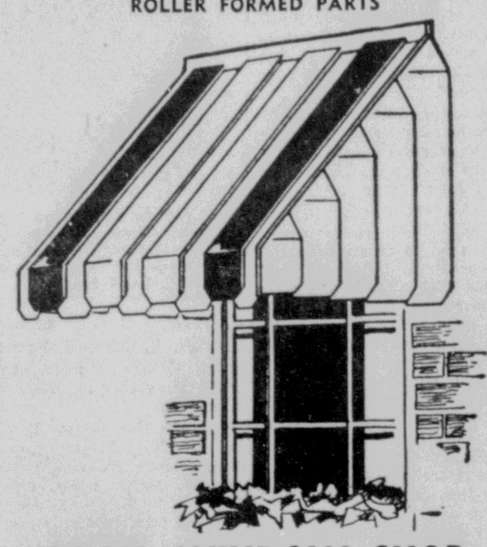

"But he's been blowing hot and cold all spring," sighed Alston.

The lefthanded brigade of Brooklyn pitchers is vanishing before Alston's very eyes. Johnny Podres of World Series fame, is in the Navy, Karl Spooner has a sore arm, and Ken Lehman, who was the heir-apparent to Podres' job, has failed to shape up.

"We have been hard hit by injuries," observed Alston, "and under the circumstances, a heavier burden has been placed on our youngsters, Roger Craig, Sandy Koufax and Don Bessent."

Major Leagues Opening Their 1956 Schedules

Many Big Questions By Managers Slated To Be Answered Soon

NEW YORK (AP)—Will Brooklyn dash from the barrier for 10 straight, as it did last year? Did the Yankees pick up pennant insurance when they got southpaw Maury McDermott from Washington? Are the Boston Red Sox improved sufficiently to wrest the American League title from New York?

Which team got the better of the deal that sent Larry Doby to Chicago and Chico Carrasquel to Cleveland last winter? Can rookie Luis Aparicio fill Carrasquel's shoes at shortstop for the White Sox?

These were some of the questions confronting managers today as the 1956 major league season got under way in eight cities.

Although tabbed as heavy favorites to meet again in the World Series, the Yankees and Dodgers, like the 14 other clubs, are beset with problems. The Yankees are vulnerable at shortstop and in the relief department. Their biggest headache may come from their strongest department — the outfield. Although Mickey Mantle has given promise this spring of fulfilling his tremendous potential there is a constant concern over his damaged legs.

Hank Bauer, still not fully recovered from the groin injury that cut short his World Series action, is playing despite a specialist's orders to rest for an entire season. Should either outfielder be made unavailable for any length of time, the Yankees would be in trouble.

Brooklyn is plagued by pitching miseries. The departure of Johnny Podres, the lame arm sof Billy Loes and Karl Spooner and the uncertainty of Carl Erskine to pitch the full season with a balky elbow should prevent a romp such as last year.

Approximately 250,000 spectators, barring bad weather, were expected to view the openers. A crowd of some 28,500 was assured Eisenhower was all set to uncork the first "pitch," the signal for the official opening of the '56 season. The scheduled pitchers were Don Larsen (9-2) for New York and Camilo Pascual (2-12) for Washington.

A pitching duel was in prospect in Chicago where Cleveland's ace right-hander Bob Lemon (18-10) clashes with Billy Pierce (15-10).

At Detroit, Frank Lary (14-15), the Tigers' sophomore right-hander, was given the assignment against the Kansas City Athletics' wily southpaw Alex Kellner (11-8).

In Boston, it will be Ted Williams' first opener since 1952. Righthander Frank Sullivan (18-13) was slated to face Bill Wight (6-8), Baltimore's veteran lefthander.

The largest National League crowd (43,000) was expected at Milwaukee. Lew Burdette (13-8) hurls against the Chicago Cubs who had Bob Rush (13-11) all primed.

Another brilliant pitching duel was in the offing at Brooklyn, where the league's only 20-game winners were almost certain to square off. Robin Roberts (23-14) for Philadelphia and Don Newcombe (20-5) for Brooklyn were the main attraction.

At the Polo Grounds, the Giants, behind southpaw ace Johnny Antonelli (14-16), were primed for their opener against Pittsburgh with Bob Friend (14-9) on the mound.

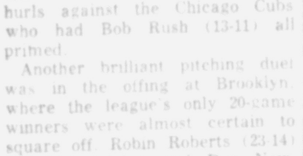

In Cincinnati, the Cardinals, with Vinegar Bend Mizell on the mound, were the opposition. The Reds' opening choice was Joe Nuxhall (17-12).

Chilly Opener Seen For Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Button Up Your Overcoat" threatened today to vie with "Take Me Out To The Ball Game" as the theme song for Cincinnati's opening National League baseball game against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The weatherman said it would be cloudy, windy and with the temperature not higher than 50. A little rain is expected. Those things add up to a "normal" Cincinnati opener even though it won't be comfortable.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who once played professional baseball, will toss out the first ball.

Lion Track Squad Looks Good For First Meet Here Thursday

Flushed by an opening-meet victory, the Washington C. H. High School tracksters are in the peak of condition for their first home meet of the season with the athletes from Hillsboro and Lancaster Thursday.

A victory in this triangular meet would be the second straight for the Lion squad that was the South Central Ohio League co-champ last season. The red hot Lions are going for unshared honors this year and the triumph would help them on their way.

The Lions out-everythinged the Wilmington and Lebanon track squads in their opener last Tuesday. They scored 61 points to 44 for Lebanon and 43 for Wilmington in the three-way affair.

Lions track coach Fred Domenico, who nurtured a green football squad into a championship team last fall, has been working with the tracksters without letup between meets. Polishing up the weak spots and just drumming away at fundamentals have been the major business during the week.

Domenico's pre-season efforts were hampered by foul weather which forced the practicing thinclads off of the field and into the gymnasium. This week, they have had several good outdoor practices and should be in even better shape for their second meet than they were for the first.

Last week's triumph over Wilmington was a rare victory for the Lions. The Clinton County Hurricane has been producing top track teams since 'way back when and they hardly ever lose a meet on their home ground.

The Lions proved their abilities in the mud more than anything at the competition. Practice-shattering rain had tumbled down for days before the meet, and runners and jumpers had to contend with sopping grounds all through the afternoon. The weather was bad enough that day, so that a few miles away in Greenfield, a Lions-Tigers baseball game had to be called off.

Lions' hopes will be resting heavily on scissor-legged Bobby Hunter, who showed 'em at Wilmington that he could outrun almost anything on the field except the coach's convertible. Hunter was first to the tape in both the 100 and the 220 yard dashes and served as a successful anchor in the half-mile relay.

Brawny Dan Schlichter, one of the WHS field events specialists will be looked to as well Thursday. Schlichter garnered a first in the shot put and a second in the discus throw in last week's meet.

Moore Floors California Giant

SEATTLE (AP) — Light heavyweight champ Archie Moore, almost having to leap to land his blows, easily disposed of tall George Parmentier in the third round of a scheduled 10-round nontitle fight here last night.

Moore, weighing in at 193, dropped the 233-pound, 6-foot 5 inch giant from Eureka, Calif., three times in the third round. The referee called the fight after Parmentier twice had taken the compulsory eight count.

Walcott Claims Fail To Convince

CHICAGO (AP)—Alleged irregularities in Illinois boxing were described as "wild statements" yesterday in a grand jury investigation.

Appearing before the Cook County grand jury were former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott and ex-fight manager Jack Begun.

Both men met with state's attorney John Gutknecht before testifying before the grand jury.

"It is evident," said Gutknecht, "that the statements made recently by Walcott and Begun in connection with the boxing game are wild statements. No factual information was brought to the state's attorney's attention."

Berrios Challenges Saddler, Hamia

NEW YORK (AP) — Miguel Berrios, a pint-sized featherweight, today dared champion Sandy Saddler and French contender Cherif Hamia to take him on.

The 5-2, 23-year-old Puerto Rican who now lives in New York issued his challenge to the top 126-pounders after beating experienced Bobby Bell of Youngstown, Ohio, in St. Nicholas Arena.

A solid right to the chin in the final round staggered the 27-year-old Bell and gave Miguel his second split verdict over the Ohioan and his fourth consecutive win.

Ike To Help Open Baseball Season

WASHINGTON (AP)—New York's pennant defending veterans do battle today with Washington's pink-cheeked youngsters before President Eisenhower and an anticipated gathering of 28,500 in Griffith Stadium.

Following a tradition that goes back almost half a century, Eisenhower was scheduled to throw out the first ball to make official the start of the 1956 baseball season.

Eisenhower planned to arrive 15 minutes before starting time. He is expected to stay for at least part of the game.

Trotters Defeat All-Stars Again

CHICAGO (AP) — The Harlem Globetrotters clinched their barnstorming tour with the College All Stars last night with a 67-59 triumph, their 11th in 18 games.

Tom Heinsohn, All - America from Holy Cross, was the game's high scorer with 20 points. The Stars led 19-18 at the end of the first quarter but the Globetrotters went ahead at the half, 39-35.

The two teams, who played before 13,220 last night, meet at the Chicago Stadium again tonight, move to Cleveland tomorrow and finish up in Indianapolis Thursday.

Major Leagues Opening Their 1956 Schedules

Many Big Questions By Managers Slated To Be Answered Soon

NEW YORK (AP)—Will Brooklyn dash from the barrier for 10 straight, as it did last year? Did the Yankees pick up pennant insurance when they got southpaw Maury McDermott from Washington? Are the Boston Red Sox improved sufficiently to wrest the American League title from New York?

Which team got the better of the deal that sent Larry Doby to Chicago and Chico Carrasquel to Cleveland last winter? Can rookie Luis Aparicio fill Carrasquel's shoes at shortstop for the White Sox?

These were some of the questions confronting managers today as the 1956 major league season got under way in eight cities.

Although tabbed as heavy favorites to meet again in the World Series, the Yankees and Dodgers, like the 14 other clubs, are beset with problems. The Yankees are vulnerable at shortstop and in the relief department. Their biggest headache may come from their strongest department — the outfield. Although Mickey Mantle has given promise this spring of fulfilling his tremendous potential, there is a constant concern over his damaged legs.

Hank Bauer, still not fully recovered from the groin injury that cut short his World Series action, is playing despite a specialist's orders to rest for an entire season. Should either outfielder be made unavailable for any length of time, the Yankees would be in trouble.

Brooklyn is plagued by pitching miseries. The departure of Johnny Podres, the lame arm sof Billy Loes and Karl Spooner and the uncertainty of Carl Erskine to pitch the full season with a balky elbow should prevent a romp such as last year.

Approximately 250,000 spectators, barring bad weather, were expected to view the openers. A crowd of some 28,500 was assured Eisenhower was all set to uncork the first "pitch," the signal for the official opening of the '56 season. The scheduled pitchers were Don Larsen (9-2) for New York and Camilo Pascual (2-12) for Washington.

A pitching duel was in prospect in Chicago where Cleveland's ace right-hander Bob Lemon (18-10) clashes with Billy Pierce (15-10).

At Detroit, Frank Lary (14-15), the Tigers' sophomore right-hander, was given the assignment against the Kansas City Athletics' wily southpaw Alex Kellner (11-8).

In Boston, it will be Ted Williams' first opener since 1952. Righthander Frank Sullivan (18-13) was slated to face Bill Wight (6-8), Baltimore's veteran lefthander.

The largest National League crowd (43,000) was expected at Milwaukee. Lew Burdette (13-8) hurls against the Chicago Cubs who had Bob Rush (13-11) all primed.

Another brilliant pitching duel was in the offing at Brooklyn, where the league's only 20-game winners were almost certain to square off. Robin Roberts (23-14) for Philadelphia and Don Newcombe (20-5) for Brooklyn were the main attraction.

At the Polo Grounds, the Giants, behind southpaw ace Johnny Antonelli (14-16), were primed for their opener against Pittsburgh with Bob Friend (14-9) on the mound.

In Cincinnati, the Cardinals, with Vinegar Bend Mizell on the mound, were the opposition. The Reds' opening choice was Joe Nuxhall (17-12).

Chilly Opener Seen For Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Button Up Your Overcoat" threatened today to vie with "Take Me Out To The Ball Game" as the theme song for Cincinnati's opening National League baseball game against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The weatherman said it would be cloudy, windy and with the temperature not higher than 50. A little rain is expected. Those things add up to a "normal" Cincinnati opener even though it won't be comfortable.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who once played professional baseball, will toss out the first ball.

"ITS SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

Lion Track Squad Looks Good For First Meet Here Thursday

Flushed by an opening-meet victory, the Washington C. H. High School tracksters are in the peak of condition for their first home meet of the season with the athletes from Hillsboro and Lancaster Thursday.

A victory in this triangular meet would be the second straight for the Lion squad that was the South Central Ohio League co-champ last season. The red hot Lions are going for unshared honors this year and the triumph would help them on their way.

The Lions out-everythinged the Wilmington and Lebanon track squads in their opener last Tuesday. They scored 61 points to 44 for Lebanon and 43 for Wilmington in the three-way affair.

Lions track coach Fred Domenico, who nurtured a green football squad into a championship team last fall, has been working with the tracksters without letup between meets. Polishing up the weak spots and just drumming away at fundamentals have been the major business during the week.

Domenico's pre-season efforts were hampered by foul weather which forced the practicing thinclads off of the field and into the gymnasium. This week, they have had several good outdoor practices and should be in even better shape for their second meet than they were for the first.

Last week's triumph over Wilmington was a rare victory for the Lions. The Clinton County Hurricane has been producing top track teams since 'way back when and they hardly ever lose a meet on their home ground.

The Lions proved their abilities in the mud more than anything at the competition. Practice-shattering rain had tumbled down for days before the meet, and runners and jumpers had to contend with sopping grounds all through the afternoon. The weather was bad enough that day, so that a few miles away in Greenfield, a Lions-Tigers baseball game had to be called off.

Lions' hopes will be resting heavily on scissor-legged Bobby Hunter, who showed 'em at Wilmington that he could outrun almost anything on the field except the coach's convertible. Hunter was first to the tape in both the 100 and the 220 yard dashes and served as a successful anchor in the half-mile relay.

Brawny Dan Schlichter, one of the WHS field events specialists, will be looked to as well Thursday. Schlichter garnered a first in the shot put and a second in the discus throw in last week's meet.

Moore Floors California Giant

SEATTLE (AP) — Light heavyweight champ Archie Moore, almost having to leap to land his blows, easily disposed of tall George Parmentier in the third round of a scheduled 10-round nontitle fight here last night.

Moore, weighing in at 193, dropped the 233-pound, 6-foot 5 inch giant from Eureka, Calif., three times in the third round. The referee called the fight after Parmentier twice had taken the compulsory eight count.

Waicott Claims Fail To Convince

CHICAGO (AP)—Alleged irregularities in Illinois boxing were described as "wild statements" yesterday in a grand jury investigation.

Appearing before the Cook County grand jury were former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott and ex-fight manager Jack Begun.

Both men met with state's attorney John Gutknecht before testifying before the grand jury.

"It is evident," said Gutknecht, "that the statements made recently by Walcott and Begun in connection with the boxing game are wild statements. No factual information was brought to the state's attorney's attention."

Mr. Cattleman:

Efficiency is a very important factor in farming today. Why not sell better cattle through the use of beter bulls? Good pastures are a matter proven, but cattle still need improving in most herds. A combination of both can lead to increased profit. Attend the Fayette County Hereford Association Sale April 21, at the Fairgrounds. We are selling 15 herd improving bulls and 40 females.

"Yours sincerely" comes from the Latin "sine cere" (without wax), a designation for Roman sculptures which did not have defects concealed by applications of wax.

Interest Hike Meaning Eyed By Financiers

Many Businessmen See Boom Sprinting Again Ahead Of Recession

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Whatever else the rise in interest rates does it appears to indicate that the Federal Reserve Board agrees with the many businessmen who believe that the boom — after its short siesta — may be set for another sprint.

Fears of a recession to follow the late boom seem to be at low ebb.

Whether tightening credit will stop another inflationary boom is widely disputed. But by moving to make borrowing more costly the Federal Reserve seems to show it now expects another boom and would like to keep it within bounds if possible.

Businessmen have been betting heavily on a continuing boom to follow the leveling off of the last three months or so. They have been borrowing from their banks in record volume. Part of this has been to finance their expanded plans for spending more on new plant and equipment. Part of the loans appear to have gone into building up inventories.

Fears of another wage-price inflation spiral have grown as the time nears for the steel companies to talk with the labor unions.

Personal income totals have continued to rise. For some time now consumers have shown a tendency to pay off old debts before taking on new ones. But retail trade as a whole was good in March. And consumers by fall should be in an excellent condition to buy more big ticket goods on time if they want to.

Many manufacturers report an increase in orders. From all signs corporate earnings in the first three months of this year were better than a year ago. A sizable number of companies have increased dividends.

Times for the majority are pleasant indeed.

The Federal Reserve Board has said this is just what it would like to see continue. Then why did it do something that many interpret as putting on the brakes?

The Federal Reserve says it isn't doing that — it doesn't want to slow down prosperity. It just wants to deter some who might be borrowing in anticipation of another inflationary spurt which would lead to rising prices and a drop in the purchasing power of the dollar.

How effective will rising interest rates be in putting a governor on the boom? Those who applaud the Federal Reserve's action say it will have the psychological effect of making businessmen cautious.

Others say the psychological effect might be just the opposite. By appearing to predict another inflationary spurt the Federal Reserve might confirm the beliefs of those businessmen who are building up inventories to beat a price hike, or to lead investors to buy up stocks as a hedge against inflation.

Fultz Named New Head Of Lancaster BIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—T. Lyston Fultz, 53, has been appointed superintendent of the Boy's Industrial School at Lancaster.

The appointment was made Monday by John R. Ferguson, chief of the state division of juvenile research, classification and training, with the approval of Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of the state department of mental hygiene and correction, and the consent of the division's advisory council.

Fultz has held temporary appointment as superintendent since April, 1955, when Col. Harold L. Hays resigned the $12,500 a year post to become Ohio director of selective service. Fultz formerly was assistant superintendent of the BIS.

Fultz, a member of the staff since 1940, first served as administrative staff member and supervisor of the recreation department. He became assistant superintendent in February, 1954.

Fultz is a graduate of Ohio University and presently is the adjutant general, 37th Infantry Division, of the Ohio National Guard.

Ferguson, in announcing the appointment, issued this statement: "Dr. Porterfield, the advisory council and I feel that Mr. Fultz has, during the past year, evidenced an ability to do the job that needs to be done at BIS in connection with Ohio's overall program for problem juveniles. We are pleased to extend him this vote of confidence through formalization of his appointment as superintendent."

Mr. Cattleman:

Efficiency is a very important factor in farming today. Why not sell better cattle through the use of beter bulls? Good pastures are a matter proven, but cattle still need improving in most herds. A combination of both can lead to increased profit. Attend the Fayette County Hereford Association Sale April 21, at the Fairgrounds. We are selling 15 herd improving bulls and 40 females.

Interest Hike Meaning Eyed By Financiers

Many Businessmen See Boom Sprinting Again Ahead Of Recession

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Whatever else the rise in interest rates does it appears to indicate that the Federal Reserve Board agrees with the many businessmen who believe that the boom — after its short siesta — may be set for another sprint.

Fears of a recession to follow the late boom seem to be at low ebb.

Whether tightening credit will stop another inflationary boom is widely disputed. But by moving to make borrowing more costly the Federal Reserve seems to show it now expects another boom and would like to keep it within bounds if possible.

Businessmen have been betting heavily on a continuing boom to follow the leveling off of the last three months or so. They have been borrowing from their banks in record volume. Part of this has been to finance their expanded plans for spending more on new plant and equipment. Part of the loans appear to have gone into building up inventories.

Fears of another wage-price inflation spiral have grown as the time nears for the steel companies to talk with the labor unions.

Personal income totals have continued to rise. For some time now consumers have shown a tendency to pay off old debts before taking on new ones. But retail trade as a whole was good in March. And consumers by fall should be in an excellent condition to buy more big ticket goods on time if they want to.

Many manufacturers report an increase in orders. From all signs corporate earnings in the first three months of this year were better than a year ago. A sizable number of companies have increased dividends.

Times for the majority are pleasant indeed.

The Federal Reserve Board has said this is just what it would like to see continue. Then why did it do something that many interpret as putting on the brakes?

The Federal Reserve says it isn't doing that — it doesn't want to slow down prosperity. It just wants to deter some who might be borrowing in anticipation of another inflationary spurt which would lead to rising prices and a drop in the purchasing power of the dollar.

How effective will rising interest rates be in putting a governor on the boom? Those who applaud the Federal Reserve's action say it will have the psychological effect of making businessmen cautious.

Others say the psychological effect might be just the opposite. By appearing to predict another inflationary spurt, the Federal Reserve might confirm the beliefs of those businessmen who are building up inventories to beat a price hike, or to lead investors to buy up stocks as a hedge against inflation.

Fultz Named New Head Of Lancaster BIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—T. Lyston Fultz, 53, has been appointed superintendent of the Boy's Industrial School at Lancaster.

The appointment was made Monday by John R. Ferguson, chief of the state division of juvenile research, classification and training, with the approval of Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of the state department of mental hygiene and correction, and the consent of the division's advisory council.

Fultz has held temporary appointment as superintendent since April, 1955, when Col Harold L. Hays resigned the $12,500 a year post to become Ohio director of selective service. Fultz formerly was assistant superintendent of the BIS.

Fultz, a member of the staff since 1940, first served as administrative staff member and supervisor of the recreation department. He became assistant superintendent in February, 1954.

Fultz is a graduate of Ohio University and presently is the adjutant general, 37th Infantry Division, of the Ohio National Guard.

Ferguson, in announcing the appointment, issued this statement:

"Dr. Porterfield, the advisory council and I feel that Mr. Fultz has, during the past year, evidenced an ability to do the job that needs to be done at BIS in connection with Ohio's overall program for problem juveniles. We are pleased to extend him this vote of confidence through formalization of his appointment as superintendent."

Lake Shippers Seek Federal Building Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Great Lakes shipping groups go to Congress today to explain why they believe the government should help renovate their aging fleet.

The witnesses were summoned to testify before a Senate Commerce subcommittee on legislation by Sen. Potter (R-Mich).

Potter's bill would permit the government to grant generous "trade - in" allowances on old Great Lakes vessels so that the owners could build modern new ones. The old ships would then be placed in the mothball fleet.

One group backing this legislation, the Lake Carriers Assn. of Cleveland, maintains that more than 50 per cent of the U.S. ships on the lakes will be over 50 years old in 1960.

Because of high construction costs and competition from Canadian and other foreign operators, it says, U. S. shippers cannot afford new ships without help.

In connection with foreign competition, the carriers' association says that in 1925, 76 per cent of the ships on the lakes flew U.S. flags.

Last year, it says, only 29 per cent of these ships were flying the American colors.

Moreover, it contends, Canadians can build ships for two-thirds the cost of American vessels, and other foreign firms build them for less than 55 per cent.

5-Truck Crash Fatal To 2 Men

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—Two truck drivers were killed today in a five-truck crash on Ohio 18 between here and Wellington. The wreckage caught fire and blocked the main two-lane east-west road.

The State Highway Patrol identified the dead as Ross Richert, 38 of Richmond, Mich., and William Hotinsky 43, of Pittsburgh.

A rig driven by Kenneth F. Mackley, 37, of Richmond, Mich., was first of four trucks headed west and sideswiped a van driven by Chester Winterstein Jr. of Saginaw, Mich., and bounded head-on into Richert's truck.

Arthur Earl Franklin, 32, of Angola, Ind., rammed his freight van into the wreckage, hitting the rear of Richert's steel carrier.

Hotinsky's truck was westbound and was sideswiped by Mackley's.

Lake Shippers Seek Federal Building Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Great Lakes shipping groups go to Congress today to explain why they believe the government should help renovate their aging fleet.

The witnesses were summoned to testify before a Senate Commerce subcommittee on legislation by Sen. Potter (R-Mich).

Potter's bill would permit the government to grant generous "trade - in" allowances on old Great Lakes vessels so that the owners could build modern new ones. The old ships would then be placed in the mothball fleet.

One group backing this legislation, the Lake Carriers Assn. of Cleveland, maintains that more than 50 per cent of the U.S. ships on the lakes will be over 50 years old in 1960.

Because of high construction costs and competition from Canadian and other foreign operators, it says, U. S. shippers cannot afford new ships without help.

In connection with foreign competition, the carriers' association says that in 1925, 76 per cent of the ships on the lakes flew U.S. flags.

Last year, it says, only 29 per cent of these ships were flying the American colors.

Moreover, it contends, Canadians can build ships for two-thirds the cost of American vessels, and other foreign firms build them for less than 55 per cent.

5-Truck Crash Fatal To 2 Men

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—Two truck drivers were killed today in a five-truck crash on Ohio 18 between here and Wellington. The wreckage caught fire and blocked the main two-lane east-west road.

The State Highway Patrol identified the dead as Ross Richert, 38 of Richmond, Mich., and William Hotinsky 43, of Pittsburgh.

A rig driven by Kenneth F Mackley, 37, of Richmond, Mich., was first of four trucks headed west and sideswiped a van driven by Chester Winterstein Jr. of Saginaw, Mich., and bounded head-on into Richert's truck.

Arthur Earl Franklin, 32 of Angola, Ind., rammed his freight van into the wreckage, hitting the rear of Richert's steel carrier.

Hotinsky's truck was westbound and was sideswiped by Mackley's.

Hospital Board Contracts For Water Storage

March Busy Month Report Shows Plans For Future Discussed

Installation of an underground storage tank of approximately 20,000 gallon capacity, with necessary equipment for piping and pumping into the hospital building, was awarded Monday night by unanimous vote of the board of trustees of Fayette County Memorial Hospital at their regular monthly meeting.

The contract was awarded to the G. M. Baker and Son Company of Columbus, which submitted the lowest bid for the project.

* * *

THE STORAGE tank is to be operated in connection with the new well, recently drilled, for the purpose of providing and maintaining an ample volume of its own water supply for the hospital use. Officials of the institution believe that this plan will be a money-saver for the hospital over a period of future years.

The hospital board also entered into a general discussion with reference to future needs and gave indication of progressive thinking relative to plans being studied for future action when deemed advisable, in the matter of various improvements and facilities to meet the increasingly pressing demands.

* * *

THE MARCH report was submitted to the board and was approved. The total admissions of patients to the hospital for the month was 304. In addition there were 61 births. The total number of patient days of service was 2227, with the highest number in the institution for any one day being 86, the lowest any one day 60.

The report showed 62 major operations performed in surgery and 67 of a minor type.

The X-ray department made 732 films for patients while the laboratory made 2,678 examinations.

A total of 30,155 pounds of clean laundry was turned out; 8,260 meals were served.

The number of out-patients given service of some kind without requiring a room or bed was 346, not included in the other total admissions recorded.

No Shorter Hours For Postal Workers

Observance of the Thursday afternoon half holiday at the Post Office here, which starts May 1 and lasts for four months, does not mean any layoff or shorter hours for postal employes, it is explained in connection with the move.

All employes will work the regular hours, and the two window men will assist in handling the mails while the windows are closed.

This is expected to ease the tasks of the various postal employes by providing additional assistance of the two men who ordinarily look after the window business at the office.

Cool Spell Spreads Across Nation

CHICAGO (AP)—A mid-April cool spell extended from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast today.

Temperatures dropped to freezing and below in northern border states. There was a rapid cooling in areas east of the Appalachians, with readings 15 to 20 degrees lower than yesterday.

Cloudy, windy and cool weather appeared in prospect for Midwest and Eastern cities. Showers were indicated in New York, Cincinnati, Chicago and Brooklyn, while snow flurries were forecast at Detroit.

Teaching Aims Discussed Here

Rev. Lindsey Speaks At Teachers' Meet

One of the basic aims of teaching should be to help students learn how to use their own minds— and to awaken their interest in thinking for themselves.

Rev. Sanford Lindsey, pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church in London, underscored that point in his talk at Monday's session of the City Teachers Association.

Rev. Lindsey, former pastor of St. Andrews Episcopal Church here, keyed his talk to the association's program theme for the year, "Broadening Horizons."

Teachers and clergymen, he said, have one aim in common— teaching young people to consider more than the material things of life.

Rev. Lindsey was introduced by Mrs. Dorothy Everhart, program chairman.

* * *

DURING THE business meeting which followed, Mrs. Olive Woodyard, president, announced that plans are being completed for the variety show to be presented by the teachers on May 7.

Prin. Earl Miller of Cherry Hill School and Miss Naomi Gettig, high school English teacher, gave a short resume of the Ohio Education Association conference on instruction which they had attended as delegates from the local association.

Prin. Miller, who spoke on curriculum planning, mentioned that curriculum improvement or change is controlled by the interest and needs of the community, the pupils and the school. He stressed the need for continuity and coordination between elementary and secondary curricula.

Miss Gettig underscored the importance of teachers' knowing how to teach reading on both the elementary and high school levels.

She mentioned also the critical shortage of engineers and scientists and the need for teachers of mathematics and science to be on the lookout for the student gifted in these areas so that he may be encouraged to enter these fields.

Birthday Observed By Union FB Council

"How well have we, as a council, used the strength that comes from working together?"

This was one of the major points of discussion at a meeting of the Union Township Farm Bureau Council No. 1 held in honor of the 20th anniversary of the Farm Bureau Councils in Ohio.

The council discussed its accomplishments over the years and the things still to be done at this anniversary session.

Members cited the purchase of fire fighting equipment for Union Township as one of the major accomplishments over the years. The Council was instrumental in getting the township the equipment if needed for adequate fire protection, it was emphasized.

A total of eight members of the original Union Township Council still belong to the group, it was noted.

Farm Bureau Council work has its roots deep in the American tradition, it was explained. The co-operative neighborly spirit of the Councils grows out of the same base as such 19th century phenomenas the husking bee and the threshing ring.

Work through the Farm Bureau Council is merely a 20th century version of these activities, it was asserted.

Council members "work together to keep their own freedom," it was noted at the meeting. The greater part that the individual takes in planning the council's activities, the greater the degree of individual liberty, it was said.

The first Ohio Farm Bureau Councils were a group of four founded in Shelby County by Louis Warbington, then director of the Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. Warbington was once a guest at the Union council.

There are now 1,500 councils in Ohio, with more than 30,000 members.

Fayette County Student Is On OSU Honor Roll

A Fayette County youth, William D. Vincent, Route 6, is one of 86 students in Ohio State University's College of Agriculture who made the honor roll during the winter quarter.

The honor roll is made up of students who have achieved high scholastic attainments with an average grade of 3.50 or better. The grade of A equals 4.00 and B equals 3.00.

Tiger Cagers Guests of Lions

Compliments Paid At Club Banquet

Jeffersonville High School's basketball squads were honored by the Jeffersonville Lions club with a banquet Monday evening.

The Tiger basketeers, who took both the Varsity and Reserve championships of Fayette County last season, were heaped with compliments before, during and after the dinner in the Lions Club Hall at Jeffersonville.

But the most impressive words of praise came from the man who knows the Tigers best —their coach, Bob Hildreth.

Coach Hildreth expressed the appreciation of the Tigers to the Lions for the banquet.

After adding his pats on the backs of the Tigers to those given them by the Lions, Coach Hildreth painted a rosy outlook for the Tigers next season.

He pointed out that while the Varsity would lose two of its stars of this year—co-captains Ronny Sams and John Wright—there would be five boys with Varsity experience around which to build the 1956-57 squad. Besides, he noted, there will be some good boys coming up from the Reserve squad which, significantly, won the county championship of its division.

Members of the Varsity squad with Wright and Sams at the banquet were Roger Mason, Leroy Snyder, James Smith, David Groves and Roger Snyder.

Sheppard Hearing

"The next morning," Herbert said, "the counsel for the defense asked if the jurors had heard the broadcast. The court refused the request." Herbert recalled that Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin of Cleveland, who presided at the trial, said the court could not control who listened to the broadcast. "It is a matter of free speech," Herbert quoted the judge as saying. He added that the Judge "seemed to place freedom of speech above fair and impartial trial."

Herbert hammered hard at what he said was one of the important links of circumstantial evidence that the state used against Sheppard—a missing T-shirt. It was a garment the state originally contended was worn at the time of the slaying. But Herbert charged:

"The state found that T-shirt and kept it concealed, but I won't go into that now."

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt stepped aside for the appeal hearing and Judge John M. Matthias became presiding jurist.

Weygandt removed himself because his son, Richard, former Bay Village solicitor, participated in preliminaries of the Sheppard case.

FOUR YOUTHS CHARGED

GREENFIELD — Mayor Robert J. Smith held two youths to the grand jury on charges of rape filed by an 18-year-old girl. Bond of each was fixed at $1,500. They are Robert Lightle, 19 and Guy Smith, 20. Two juveniles charged with the same crime were released to their parents.

Confirmation Of Postmaster Made

The U. S. Senate Monday formally confirmed the appointment of Clark Wickensimer as postmaster of the Washington C. H. office.

A few days ago his appointment was reported out by the senate committee, which is almost equivalent to his confirmation, and he was immediately notified by the National Postmaster's Association, and congratulated by that organization.

It is expected he will be formally sworn in during the next few days.

Hospital Board Contracts For Water Storage

March Busy Month Report Shows-Plans For Future Discussed

Installation of an underground storage tank of approximately 20,000 gallon capacity, with necessary equipment for piping and pumping into the hospital building, was awarded Monday night by unanimous vote of the board of trustees of Fayette County Memorial Hospital at their regular monthly meeting.

The contract was awarded to the G. M. Baker and Son Company of Columbus, which submitted the lowest bid for the project.

* * *

THE STORAGE tank is to be operated in connection with the new well, recently drilled for the purpose of providing and maintaining an ample volume of its own water supply for the hospital use. Officials of the institution believe that this plan will be a money-saver for the hospital over a period of future years.

The hospital board also entered into a general discussion with reference to future needs and gave indication of progressive thinking relative to plans being studied for future action when deemed advisable, in the matter of various improvements and facilities to meet the increasingly pressing demands.

* * *

THE MARCH report was submitted to the board and was approved. The total admissions of patients to the hospital for the month was 304. In addition there were 61 births. The total number of patient days of service was 2227, with the highest number in the institution for any one day being 86, the lowest any one day 60.

The report showed 62 major operations performed in surgery and 67 of a minor type.

The X-ray department made 732 films for patients while the laboratory made 2,678 examinations.

A total of 30,155 pounds of clean laundry was turned out; 8,260 meals were served.

The number of out-patients given service of some kind without requiring a room or bed was 346, not included in the other total admissions recorded.

No Shorter Hours For Postal Workers

Observance of the Thursday afternoon half holiday at the Post Office here, which starts May 1 and lasts for four months, does not mean any layoff or shorter hours for postal employes, it is explained in connection with the move.

All employes will work the regular hours, and the two window men will assist in handling the mails while the windows are closed.

This is expected to ease the tasks of the various postal employes by providing additional assistance of the two men who ordinarily look after the window business at the office.
